Bloc Against the U. S. A. Poor Old Capitalism. Men Die Strangely.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

KARL H. VON WIEGAND cables from Berlin to Universal Service about the "anti-American bloc," just perfected in Europe. Germany has joined it and it includes France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Poland, Jugoslavia and Rumania.

Mr. Von Wiegand says:

"British Foreign Secretary Simon and Premier Herriot of France have planned to isolate the United States if Washington refuses to cancel war debts."

BOYCOTTING IS easy, sometimes unprofitable. Eight merchants might unite to boycott their best customer and not be happy when the customer stops buying.

Canada, according to the New York Times, agrees to drop one quarter of its coal importations from the United States if Britain in return will buy Canadian lumber.

AT THIS moment the United States buys from Canada more than is bought by the whole British empire. Ten lines in a new tariff bill and the United States would buy from Canada NOTHING. Boycotts are dangerous. This one may be good for our country.

Success has been too easy in the United States. Difficulties might do us good.

THE "UNITED Farmers of Canada," through their Saskatchewan president, demand "an end of the capitalistic system." The farmers say:

"Competitive production, for profit, under private control, is in its dying hours."

It might be well to watch Russia for a while before deciding. The frogs got rid of the dull log, their ruler, and acquired for king a long-legged bird that devoured them. They wished they had not complained.

Capitalism is not perfect, but it has been a fairly good-natured old ruler. It certainly has increased wages, bathtubs, automobiles, radios and vacuum cleaners. It might be wise to try it a while longer.

WHEN MEN decide to die, usually a decision more or less cowardly, they do it in strange ways. One jumps into a volcano, taking a girl with him. Another goes over Niagara, some jump in front of locomotives, some hang, shoot or drown themselves.

Roscoe Griffith went about it deliberately. To ambulance doctors, called by his wife, to find him eating a hearty dinner, he said:

"My wife is mistaken, gentlemen, I have taken no poison."

And he smiled.

THEY TOOK him to the hospital, he walked from the ambulance to the door, and fell dead.

So many pleasant things can happen, so many interesting things are sure to happen, "gigantic troubles" melt so quickly that it is silly not to wait as long as possible and see.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW, 76 years old yesterday, does not like to have it mentioned. When he is 96 he will be proud of his age, and tell everybody. He says:

"I am overworked and have that all my life."

That is why he retains good health at 76. Mental work keeps the body "fit." Men, like trees, die at the top.

THE RUSSIAN Gorguloff, who murdered President Doumer of France, says that he wants to be executed, and the French will probably oblige him. He wants to "leave this earth," and predicts disaster for all of us. He liked the old earth so little that he wanted to be sent in a rocket to the moon, before he killed the French president.

Those that expected to find in Gorguloff's crime a new proof of Bolshevik wickedness are disappointed. It turns out that he murdered Doumer to rebuke Bolshevism "in the name of an enslaved Russian people."

RUDY VALLEE is stuying law, against a time when "I shall sing no more." He will find that very profitable crooning is done in his new profession.

Student Confesses Killing Aunt

YOUTH TELLS OF STABBING RICH KIN

Declares Revenge for Losses of Father His Motive

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 27.—(AP.)—A strange story of revenge which led a 20-year-old youth to kill his aunt and attempt to slay his uncle, a wealthy Manila importer and exporter, to avenge a wrong done his father, was told by San Jose authorities today.

The youth, George Douglas Templeton, Jr., University of California student, authorities said, confessed in Oakland, Cal., where he was arrested early today.

Calm and apparently without regret, he was brought here to be charged with murder for the knifing early yesterday of Mrs. Lillian Babcock.

UNCLE NEAR DEATH

Meanwhile, William R. Babcock, head of the Philippine delegation to the Olympic games and former business partner of Templeton's father, lay dangerously wounded in a Palo Alto hospital, where a blood transfusion was ordered.

The desire for revenge, the confession related, hinged on the five-year litigation between Babcock and George D. Templeton, Sr., formerly partners in Babcock and Templeton, Manila importing and exporting firm, of which Babcock is now president.

STORY OF PLOT

The story of the planning of the attack on the Babcocks as they slept at Los Altos, near here, and the assault of early yesterday morning, as retold by authorities, follows:

Last Sunday young Templeton visited the home of his aunt, Mrs. Walter Buckish, whose husband is commissioner of schools of the Philippine Islands, where the Babcocks were visiting. A Filipino houseboy showed the youth about the home as he carefully studied the scene of his contemplated crime.

Monday he bought a 12-inch knife—such as is used for killing cattle.

He also bought a five-gallon can of kerosene with which he intended to fire the house. He intended the others in the house should escape.

The youth excused himself about midnight from the Oakland lunchroom, where he worked, and drove to the Buckish home.

ATTACKS PAIR

He found his way to the bedroom where the Babcocks slept only after turning on the lights, and made so much noise he was surprised the household was not awakened.

He stabbed his uncle, then pulled down the covers which his aunt had pulled over her head, and stabbed her to death. By that time Babcock grappled with him, and the youth dropped the knife and fled.

At 4 a. m. he awakened a friend, A. R. Fitzpatrick, at his ranch home, saying he had had a fight with his uncle and wanted to wash. This story, related to Sheriff William J. Emig, led to the arrest of young Templeton in the lunchroom early today.

JOHN SIMON . . SHOWING HOW HE WATCHED ROBBED HOME

Nine-year-old Mt. Washington boy illustrating the story he told in police court today that he served as "lookout" while the home of Mrs. E. Youngberg, Wittman street, was burglarized. His pay: One shiny dime. As a result, John's uncle Stanley Brunski, 22, was held for investigation. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

BONUS VETS TO STAY IN BILLETS

Eviction Move Halts as Officials Fail to Agree on Ouster

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—The bonus army today apparently won an important victory toward retaining their camp on lower Pennsylvania avenue when District of Columbia Commissioners and Treasury officials failed to agree on means of evicting them.

Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, said after the conference:

"There will be no illegal use of the Metropolitan Police Department."

He added that any action to be taken against the veterans now was up to the Treasury. Glassford said:

"There is now no certainty when any definite course will be decided upon."

The Treasury, after several postponements, had decided upon evacuation at 7:30 this morning, but nothing happened.

Glassford said he had been prepared to carry out any legal eviction order, but pointed out there is no provision under the District of Columbia laws by which the police could legally evacuate the bonus army.

A huge wrecking crane which swings a 4,000 pound projectile to demolish brick walls was driven up an alley early today to stop beside the first building to be demolished.

Immediately it was surrounded by a large number of veterans who viewed it with interest and christened the heavy projectile a "potato masher."

Waters was summoned. His only statement, received with cheers, was:

"Men who belong in this billet, stay in this billet."

The police contingent of 50 men, ordered out early today to help with the evacuation, was dismissed after hanging around the area for three hours with nothing to do.

Forty workmen stood around with nothing to do.

OVERCHARGES ON LIGHTING RATES BARED

Hundreds in Small Homes Fail to Get Low Tariffs

Hundreds, possibly thousands of occupants of efficiency apartments and small homes are being overcharged monthly for electricity by the Duquesne Light Company, a survey made by the Sun-Telegraph indicates.

Company officials admit many customers did not enjoy the advantage of lowest available rates, but placed the responsibility upon the consumers.

The overcharge, which can reach a total of 30 cents a month, is made through the failure of the light company, at the time contracts are signed, to give small home and efficiency apartment customers the advantage of the rates contained in a rate schedule referred to by the light company as Schedule "B."

SCHEDULE PROVISIONS

By the provisions of schedule "B" the occupant of an efficiency apartment or dwelling of four rooms or less is entitled to a rate of 3 cents per kilowatt hour for all electricity over 30 kilowatt hours during a month.

This schedule is ignored by the company unless specifically requested by a consumer, an extensive survey indicates, and instead the second 30 kilowatts are charged for at a rate of 4 cents per kilowatt hour, and the 3-cent rate is charged on the remainder of the monthly consumption.

The result is that of all of the efficiency apartment occupants interviewed by the Sun-Telegraph each was apparently paying 30 cents a month more to the Duquesne Light Company than should have been charged.

Not one could be found in the survey who had been told of the Secret Bride

MRS. CHARLES PRICE COOLEY

WED 4 YEARS, KEPT SECRET

Friends of Mrs. Charles Price Cooley today point to her as a woman who could keep a secret. She has been Mrs. Cooley for three and one-half years and not even her closest friends suspected it.

Mrs. Cooley, the former Miss Martha Harman, of 6848 Penn avenue, and her husband are on a belated honeymoon. So complete was the surprise among family friends at the announcement of the wedding that one of them, Mrs. C. L. Confer, fainted when the news was telephoned to her.

The marriage took place in Wellsburg while Miss Harman was a freshman at Carnegie Institute of Technology and Mr. Cooley was a Pitt sophomore.

Mrs. Cooley formerly was a model for fashion shows here. On Memorial Day she slipped into a real bridal gown—not for a wedding, but as a part of a fashion show.

Mr. Cooley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniel Cooley, of 7019 Penn avenue. He was graduated from Pitt in 1931.

P. S. C. HEAD MUST GO BEFORE SENATE

Bribe Charges Justify Searching Probe, Committee Holds

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Chairman William D. B. Ainey, of the Public Service Commission, today will be cited to appear before a Senate committee and answer charges that he has received gratuities from utility companies and their officers.

In a unanimous report to the Senate the Rial Committee, which has been investigating charges preferred against Ainey by Gov. Pinchot, declared that the revelations to which it had listened warranted a deeper inquiry through public hearings.

Senator William S. Rial, of Westmoreland, chairman of the committee, recommended that consideration of the report be deferred until Monday night and the suggestion was unanimously adopted. In the interim Senate leaders will discuss the make-up of the committee for the further investigation, as well as fix upon an appropriation to carry on the work.

Senate leaders at a conference today agreed to adjournment sine die next week. The committee to investigate Ainey will be empowered to sit during adjournment, and the Senate will reconvene when it has a report ready for action, a procedure requested by the Governor.

The Senate Monday night also probably will have before it formal charges from Gov. Pinchot against Public Service Commissioner Emerson Collins, asking his removal on charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty. Collins is to appear before the Governor Monday afternoon for a hearing preliminary to the filing of charges with the Senate.

A complete record of the testimony the committee has heard in private was laid before the Senate. The committee members were visibly impressed by charges that Ainey's hospital bill at Johns Hopkins in the sum of $3,073.40 had been paid by the late Arthur Thompson when he was head of the Philadelphia Company, holding organization for Pittsburgh utilities.

Allegations by A. A. Chapman, former secretary to the late Thomas E. Mitten, Philadelphia traction magnate, that Mitten over a period of years had paid Ainey $150,000 were not given much weight, there being nothing in the records produced to link Mitten and Ainey with any payments.

At its final hearing this morning the Ainey committee questioned two witnesses, Chapman and H. A. Farber, investigator of the Department of Revenue.

Chapman said that his study of the personal checks and vouchers of Mitten did not disclose any connection between Ainey and Mitten.

Photostatic copies of Johns Hopkins records showing that Ainey's bills were to be sent to Thompson, and a record of payments by Thompson through

UNCLE DETAINED ON BOY'S STORY

A 9-year-old boy testified in Mt. Washington Police Court today his uncle had given him a dime to stand outside a West End house, which police suspect the uncle of robbing.

After the boy, John Simon, 9 of 7 Wittman street, had testified, Magistrate John J. Sweeney held the uncle, Stanley Brunski, 22, of 3 Wittman street, for further investigation. Tomorrow victims of numerous house robberies in the West End will try to identify Brunski, although no evidence has linked him with these other burglaries.

The house which Brunski is suspected of entering six weeks ago is that of Mrs. E. Youngbert at 635 Wittman street. Brunski was arrested at his home last night after police said they found several articles whose ownership they are trying to establish.

PROBE PRINTING CONTRACTS

In a surprise move the grand jury today delved into the printing contracts of the county. A dozen witnesses were taken before the grand jury by District Attorney Andrew T. Park and First Assistant George F. P. Langfitt. The witnesses were said to be men engaged in printing.

After the witnesses had been interrogated, Attorney Langfitt said:

"It might develop something."

The method of handling election printing contracts has been criticized frequently.

The jury completed its probe into the private use of county gasoline yesterday. Tomorrow witnesses have been summoned to answer further questions in the probe of Watson Bowser's $200,000 county airport hauling contract.

Work of preparing the jury's presentment in the wholesale purchase of tax receipts is partly finished, but it is said the jury has not passed finally on the number of indictments it intends to recommend. Predictions about the courthouse are that six or eight ward politicians will be indicted.

It has become apparent that three new matters have been investigated, and surprise indictments are indicated.

DAVIS REQUESTS LOAN BANK HERE

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS.)—Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, called at the White House today to urge President Hoover to use his influence to have one of the new home loan banks established in Pittsburgh, or failing there, in Philadelphia.

At the same time Davis proposed three names for consideration for appointment to the board of directors that will govern the new banking system. They were William E. Best, of Pittsburgh; Peter Cameron, of Harrisburg, and L. E. Stevenson, of Pittsburgh.

Al Smith's Youngest Son to Wed Aug. 13

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Walter J. Smith, 22, youngest son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Mrs. Smith, will be married August 13 to Florence E. Watson, 22, of Schenectady, N. Y., it was announced today.

Smith is employed by the Country Trust Company, and Miss Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Watson, formerly was in the state education department of Albany.

Pin in Woman's Stomach 60 Years

YAKIMA, Wash., July 27.—(AP.)—After suffering stomach trouble many years, Mrs. Jennie I. Smith, elderly Yakima woman, became seriously ill and was taken to a hospital. A bent pin was removed from the lining of her stomach.

She recalled that more than 60 years ago, while living in Seward County, Nebraska, she and her sister swallowed several pins.

Archduke Rescues Boy in Black Sea

BUDAPEST, July 27.—(INS.)—Friends of the Hungarian archduke Joseph Francis today wired congratulations to him at Varna, summer resort on the Black Sea, where he rescued a drowning boy.

The archduke, one of the capital's best swimmers, was fully dressed when he saw the boy, 13, fighting the waves. He dived in with his clothes on and brought the boy ashore.

Pittsburgher Taxis 150 Miles for Golf

CINCINNATI, July 27.—(AP.)—S. E. Hackett, vice president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Company, Pittsburgh, rode 150 miles in a taxicab last night from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Cincinnati.

Hackett said he chartered the cab for $60 because a freight wreck delayed his train. He said he had an important engagement—for golf.

Two Jailed in Death Foretold by Cards

CHICAGO, July 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Vera Frances Carl, who drew three mystic picture cards foretelling her husband's death three days before it occurred, was in the county jail today, facing possible murder charges.

Her brother, Ivan Grilec, also occupied a jail cell.

Both were held to the grand jury by a Coroner's jury which concluded an inquest with the finding that George Carl's strangely predicted death was dealt by a revolver in the hands of either his wife or his brother-in-law.

Attorney Louis L. Gould, counsel for Mrs. Carl and Grilec, said that he would arrange for their release on bond.

Carl was found by his wife, slain, in the rear of his grocery store, July 16. Three days before the murder Mrs. Carl sought the advice of Mrs. Susie Ballo, an amateur fortune teller, on whether to undergo an operation.

From Mrs. Ballo's symbolic pack of cards Mrs. Carl said she drew three, depicting a white-robed skeleton, a widow mourning at a graveside and an inquiring magistrate. Thus, the cards foretold the violent death of the grocer.

Kansas 'Wheat Queen' Flays Farm Board

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—(AP.)—A militant Kansas widow, who bared a brawny arm to prove she is a real "dirt farmer," told the Shannon House Committee today the only thing that would help the farmers of her state "is to kick the devil out of the Farm Board."

The witness, Mrs. Ida Watkins, of Sublette, early in her testimony, sought to impress members of the committee investigating government competition with private business they were listening to the words of the actual operator of a 4,500 acre wheat far.

She rolled up a sleeve of her black dress, disclosing a bronzed, muscular arm. She challenged:

"Gentlemen, if you don't think I'm a wheat shoveler, look at this arm, or ask any man in my county."

Having thus qualified herself as a witness, Mrs. Watkins, sometimes called the Kansas "wheat queen," launched a vigorous attack on the agricultural marketing act and the Farm Board.

Asked by M. W. Borders, Sr., attorney who is conducting the examinations of many witnesses, where she drew the line in cooperative marketing, she replied:

"At the doggone, damnable government interference in our affairs and our business. I want the members of this committee to understand that the Farm Board is not from the wishes of the Kansas farmers. The oly thing that will help those farmers is to kick the devil out of the Farm Board."

POMERENE APPOINTMENT TO R. F. C. SURPRISES CAPITAL

CONTROL GIVEN DEMOCRATS BY HOOVER

Cannot Escape Blame If Relief Fails, Rainey Warns

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The most important cog in President Hoover's relief machine was operating in the hands of the "political enemy" today.

By virtue of the President's appointment of former Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, to the chairmanship of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, that important agency from now on will be controlled by four Democrats.

APPOINTMENT SURPRISES

Inasmuch as the executive made the appointment deliberately, speculation was keen over the possible political advantages he expects to derive from relinquishing domination of his pet emergency board.

Senator Pomerene's selection for the important post came as a distinct surprise to the capital. It had been rumored for several days the job was going to Alfred E. Smith, and before that Owen D. Young, another prominent Democrat, had been mentioned. The choice of the Ohioan was announced just as these rumors were being scotched definitely.

Such Democrats as were willing to talk scoffed at the idea the President was trying to shift responsibility for future actions of the Finance Corporation.

'HOOVER CAN'T DODGE'

Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, Democratic floor leader of the House, said:

"The President has had his own way about the kind of relief law we should have. There isn't any question about where responsibility for the existing law lies. Should it fail, the responsibility will be his, and he can't dodge it. Remember that he vetoed the Garner relief bill."

The selection of Pomerene won widespread praise. The former Senator has built himself up a reputation for ability and integrity that made it easy for spokesmen of all political complexions to put in a good word. His last important public job was that of special government prosecutor—together with Owen J. Roberts, now associate justice of the United States Supreme Court—in the many criminal and civil cases arising out of the oil deals of the Harding administration.

Maniu Summoned Before King Carol

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 27.—(AP.)—Juliu Maniu, leader of the National Peasant party, was summoned by telephone today to come from Sinaia to luncheon with King Carol.

It was expected he would be asked to take over the post of premier in the new Peasant government.

Searching Ainey Quiz By Senate Ordered

checks on Pittsburgh banks, were looked on by the committee as the most conclusive evidence produced to substantiate the charges by the Governor.

PROCURED COPIES

Farber said that he personally procured the photostatic copies of the records of the hospital, showing that Thompson paid hospital bills for Ainey.

The expanded investigation will not be undertaken until some time after August 8, the date set by Gov. Pinchot for Ainey to appear before him and defend himself against claims his expenses were paid by Thompson.

This is pursuant to the terms of the Public Service Commission law, though under the Supreme Court decision preventing Pinchot in 1926 from discharging Commissioner James S. Benn and S. Ray Shelby, the Senate could proceed immediately with a hearing before which Ainey would have to appear.

The report of the committee, signed by Senators Rial, of Westmoreland; Earnest, of Dauphin; Buckman, of Bucks; Salus, of Philadelphia; Coyne, of Allegheny; Clamppinger, of Franklin, and Roberts, of Northampton, said:

"Your committee respectfully reports the pursuant to the Senate resolution, serial number 7, Legislative Journal, page 288, as follows:

"Resolved, that the president pro tempore of the Senate appoint a committee of seven members of the Senate to investigate in conjunction with the Attorney General, the charges preferred against Hon. W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, and communicated to the Senate by the Governor, the committee to have the power to subpena witnesses, documents, books, records, etc., which may be deemed pertinent. The committee shall make report thereof to the Senate.

PROBE CHARGES

"It organized and, in conjunction with the Attorney General, proceeded with the investigation of the charges as preferred against Hon. W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, and communicated to the Senate by the Governor.

"The method of procedure adopted was analagous to hearings before a grand jury with a view to ascertaining whether or not there was sufficient credible evidence which could be produced requiring a defense thereof by Mr. Ainey.

"The testimony produced under oath, herewith submitted, is of such nature, that your committee is of the opinion and, therefore, recommends that further investigation should be made by the Senate itself or through an appropriate committee at an open hearing thereof, at which said hearing, Hon. W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, should be notified to appear and defend the said charges."

DESERTED BY MACHINE

Meanwhile Regular Republican leaders are seeking some means to induce Ainey's resignation.

This subject was under discussion last night at a meeting presided over by State Chairman Edward Martin, and participated in by Senators John J. McClure, Frank Baldwin, James J. Coyne, William S. Rial, and others. Rial is chairman of the special committee investigating charges leveled against Ainey by Gov. Pinchot.

Utility chiefs are understood to have been asked whether there was a possibility that Ainey might resign, thus relieving the organization, steadfast defender of Ainey in the past, from the burden of considering his case.

It has been considered to utility heads, and also to Ainey, that on the basis of the charges linking Thompson and Ainey, the organization Senators see no alternative but concurrence in the Governor's demand for dismissal of the veteran member of the commission.

ACCUSED "NOT CONCERNED"

John P. Connelly, attorney for Ainey, has asserted that these latest charges "do not concern us."

Despite this show of confidence on the part of Ainey, there is a disinclination on the part of organization senators, heretofore friendly to the utilities and Ainey, to meet the issue—as they certainly must if Ainey determines to fight. It is a foregone conclusion that after the hearing August 8 the Governor will demand the removal of Ainey. He will lay that demand before the Senate, which is certain to be in session, due to the Governor's insistence that its special session shall not adjourn so long as the Ainey charges are undecided.

Utility leaders, it is reported, have refused positively to suggest to Ainey a resignation, though it is authoritatively known they would welcome his retirement. The matter is being left to pressure of the Republican organization, as was the resignation of Commissioner James S. Benn in 1931 while a Senate committee was carrying on a utility investigation.

EVIDENCE ACCEPTED

Remarkable as an example of altered sentiment in the Senate is the disposition to accept, without question, the evidence Pinchot has arrayed against Ainey. Senators have been impressed by photostatic copies of Johns Hopkins Hospital records evidencing that bills for Ainey's treatment were to be sent to Thompson at 435 Sixth avenue, Pittsburgh, the office of the Philadelphia Company.

This, together with hospital records showing receipts of checks from Thompson, has turned the Senate against the aged chairman of the commission. One Senator, leader in the organization, today said:

"It doesn't make much difference whether Ainey resigns or not. He'll be out right after August 8. Even if he can show that the Thompson checks were merely a loan, and that Thompson was reimbursed, that won't make any difference."

The Republican organization is anxious to have the case closed immediately because of the political potentialities it involves. Gov. Pinchot long has been a foe of the dominant majority of the commission, swayed by Ainey. He has charged in official statements and campaign speeches that the commission was more friendly to utilities than energetic in the public interest.

HOOVER DRIVE PERILED

The Governor is sympathetic to the utility view of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, Democratic candidate for the presidency. It is figured by the organization that the longer his subject is kept alive, as it will be so long as Ainey is on the commission, the greater opposition danger there is to the candidacy of President Hoover in Pennsylvania, with the possibility that the state may go Democratic on the utility and power question in the November elections.

State Chairman Martin, it is known, is fearful of congressional results in several districts, and agitation of the Ainey case between now and August 8 will favor Democratic candidates.

ARMS, DEBTS LINKED BY U. S.

PARIS, July 27.—(INS.)—Ambassador Walter E. Edge, in the course of a long talk with Premier Herriot this afternoon, assured the head of the French government that the United States would adopt a more flexible attitude toward European problems provided Europe agreed to reduce her armaments.

Officially it was declared the subject of debts was not discussed. Nevertheless, in view of Senator Borah's radio speech Saturday night on the debt subject, it is believed Edge at least conveyed the impression to Herriot that a real step toward disarmament must precede serious consideration by Washington of debt revision.

The American ambassador's visit was of particular significance since he returned only yesterday from the United States, where he conferred with President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson.

BERLIN DEFIANT; READY TO ARM, SCRAP TREATY

'Strong Man' of Reich Scores 'Hypocrisy' Of French

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service.

BERLIN, July 27. — Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, "man of mystery" of German politics and the most powerful man in the government, today was out in the open for the first time with a bitter attack upon French military policy and a warning to the world that Germany will build up her arms forces unless other nations disarm to her level.

Gen. von Schleicher, minister of defense and "strong man" of the government, introduced himself to the German people and the world in a nation-wide radio address which was virtually his first public appearance. He outlined a government policy revealing a new and determined Germany ready to scrap the Treaty of Versailles herself if other countries refuse to do it for her.

GENEVA 'FAILURE'

He called the Geneva disarmament conference "a distastrous failure," and added that few expected to see other nations disarm to the level of Germany. This, he said, left Germany with but one alternative, namely that of reorganizing her army to restore arms equality.

Gen. von Schleicher intimated that the restrictions of the Versailles treaty would be no barrier, and that the world could expect Germany to add heavy artillery, tanks, and other now forbidden war implements to her army, as well as more men.

The general said the German army was far inadequate to protect her borders, and added:

"The truth is that no other European country has so little of that security which, quite paradoxically, the world's strongest military power continues to demand. Stresemann called this attitude of our western neighbor as hypocrisy, and I think there are few Germans who do not agree."

ATTACKS FRENCH

Continuing his attack upon France, he quoted the French Deputy Lamoreaux as having told the Chamber of Deputies no German army could conquer the French border fortifications. He then asked that this statement be compared with the French policy at Geneva, concluding bitterly:

"Only international politeness prevents me from giving this behavior its true description."

Regarding the nation's internal policy, von Schleicher denied he had any intention of establishing a military dictatorship in the Reich.

BOY SHACKLED, FATHER HELD

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(AP.)—Testimony by an 8-year-old boy that he had been tied in his home for three days with a chain and a dog collar resulted today in his father, Stanley Wamarski, 48, being held in $1,000 bail on charges of aggravated assault and battery.

The boy, Stanley, Jr., was released by police yesterday after neighbors reported he was being mistreated. The father, a widower, said he had chained the boy to keep him from staying out at night. The lad denied he had been disobedient.

GOVERNOR GETS CITY TAX BILL

HARRISBURG, July 27.—The Sterling bill, permitting City Council of Pittsburgh to tax any commodities, transactions or enterprises not already levied on by the state, is before the Governor for signature or rejection.

The House this afternoon agreed to amendments inserted by the Senate eliminating the county from the taxing permission, the amendments designed to avert double taxation within the county. A proposal that there should be inserted a provision that nothing taxed by the federal government should be subject to city tax was not pushed.

It will be possible for Council even to impose an income tax, so long as it is not graduated, according to many opinions here.

Farm Board Probers Ready, Hoover Hears

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—Chairman McNary, of the Senate Agriculture Committee, after a conference at the White House today, said he had informed President Hoover the investigation of the Farm Board would begin either today or tomorrow.

Turk President Gets U. S. Talkie Device

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(Universal.)—American motion picture sound-producing equipment has just been installed in the palace of the President of Turkey, the Commerce department is advised.

TRUCKING BILL REPORTED OUT

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(AP.)—The House Ways and Means Committee today reported for passage one of the three Staudenmeier (Schuylkill) truck bills and postponed indefinitely action on the other two.

The bill reported would require foreign trucks operating in Pennsylvania to carry state license tags if they are in the state more than 15 days.

The bills "killed" in committee are those proposing large increases in the license fees for all heavy trucks and increasing the gross receipts tax on trucking companies by eliminating refunds for license fees.

Two hearings were held on the bills, which were supported by railroad companies. The hearing yesterday packed the large hall of the House to the limit.

Staudenmeier, sponsor of the three bills, said there was a difference of only three votes in the Ways and Means Committee on the two bills postponed, and that they might be reported to the House before the special session ended.

Extra Fare Trains Upheld by I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved extra fare passenger trains as now operated by railroads which have them.

This resulted from an investigation of extra fare trains begun some time ago by the commission on its own motion.

PINCHOT JOINED BY SPEAKER IN RELIEF PLAN

Legislators Told to Quit Fooling Selves, Face Needs

HARRISBURG, July 27.—(AP.) — The administration launched a double-barreled attack on the General Assembly, urging the legislators to quit "fooling themselves" about state economies as a source of unemployment relief and to seek at once revenue for such relief.

Speaker C. Jay Goodnough, of the House, joined Gov. Pinchot in the latest drive to get the Legislature back to the "harmony" program agreed upon by the Governor and Republican organization leaders before the session started.

MORE REVENUE URGED

Both asserted the present economies of less than $15,000,000 would hardly balance the budget for the biennium. They declared additional taxes, improved methods of collection or, more probably, state bond issues are essential if the state's 1,150,000 jobless are to be cared for.

The Governor, in a statement to the press, said yesterday's agreement which will insure enactment of the revised economy plan had marked the end of "the Talbot-Turner idea that adequate relief can be provided out of economies." When the budget is balanced from these savings, he said, "less than nothing" will remain for the unemployed.

CHARGES BAD FAITH

He charged the Republican organization leaders are continuing to disregard agreements to back the "harmony" program, with its bond issues and increased borrowing and taxing powers for municipalities.

He reminded that Pennsylvania cannot spend federal aid money before it is received. He said:

"Every indication from Washington is that to get it, we must first show that Pennsylvania has done its full part. Any suspicion that the General Assembly has laid down—that it intends to let the federal treasury carry our relief load for us—will undoubtedly reduce our share of the $300,000,000 provided by Congress. Beyond all question, Washington will require Pennsylvania, like every other state, to show that it has neither shirked nor dodged its own responsibility."

Speaker Goodnough, making the first floor speech by a presiding officer of the House in six or eight years, warned the Legislators that "there is no fooling ourselves or the people of Pennsylvania that you can provide unemployment relief and not pay for it."

ADVISES HOUSE

He said that of the two courses available, new taxes are "impracticable" while the 14-point "harmony" program and its bond issues offered the more logical plan. The speaker asserted:

"It's going to cost us money, but we might just as well face the facts."

Representative Sterling, of Philadelphia today told the House that if the Appropriations Committee provides a satisfactory direct relief program, the Ways and Means Committee will suggest some way to provide the necessary funds.

Sterling said the committee would be reluctant to suggest levy of new taxes, but it necessary, would do so.

ECONOMY FAILS

In the Senate, George Woodward, of Philadelphia, echoed the impossible task of supplying relief without revenue. He asserted destructive criticism is easy, but the Legislature will welcome "a constructive solution to an apparently insoluble problem." He declared:

"The taxpayers have practically forbidden us to enact any new revenue bills in order to secure the millions needed for relief.

"The taxpayers were delighted with the economy bill when it passed the House, carrying cuts of a total of $22,000,000. That sounded fine, but it does not seem to work out.

"As soon as the bill reached the Senate there were a multitude of protests from all the cuttees. As a result the economy bill has been dwindled until the latest bulletin proclaims about $3,000,000 for the relief of unemployment.

"Now, what do the taxpayers expect us to do, having forbidden taxes; and, all those afflicted by the cuts having risen up in their wrath and smitten the bill, why find fault with the General Assembly after having placed it in an impossible situation.

"If the unemployed are asking for bread and we are giving them a stone, the answer is that the taxpayers are urging us to make the brick without straw."

This is a photostatic copy of the original hospital record, showing its charges made for the treatment of Mr. Ainey over a period of several months. The bill, as noted, was to go to "A. W. Thompson," whose address is listed as "435 Sixth avenue, Pittsburgh," one familiar to all who pay monthly bills to the Duquesne Light Company and the Equitable Gas Company. The late A. W. Thompson was president of the Philadelphia Company, of which the Duquesne Light and Equitable Gas are subsidiaries.

DOUMER ASSASSIN TO DIE ON GUILLOTINE OR IN JAIL

FANATIC'S WIFE BEGS PITY FOR SELF, CHILD

Murderer Torn From Mate in Dramatic Court Appeal

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service.

PARIS, July 27.—Dr. Paul Gorguloff, Russian fanatic who assassinated President Paul Doumer, of France, must die on the guillotine or spend the rest of his life on Devil's Island in expiation of his crime.

At the conclusion of testimony in his trial for the assassination, the judge ruled out an insanity verdict, maintaining that Gorguloff was fully cognizant of the enormity of his crime at the time he shot and killed M. Doumer during an exposition of books written by war veterans at the mansion of Solomon de Rothschild.

TELLS OF MURDER

The high point of the proceedings came today when the 6-foot prisoner stalked to the witness stand and told his story of the most brutal political crime in recent years. He said:

"I needed courage to kill the President, who had never done anything to me.

"So just before the assassination I drank a bottle of brandy and six glasses of wine. As I drank, I sat listening to the voice which said in my ear:

"'Kill him and then die a hero!'"

Gorguloff shook off the torpor in which he dozed during yesterday's session, when alienists bickered about his sanity and walked to the stand seemingly intent upon a prideful exposition of his slaying of the 75-year-old President for the sake of a chimerical "ideal."

At the conclusion of his brief testimony, Gorguloff's Swiss wife was ushered into the courtroom, supported by two attendants. With head bowed, she walked to the witness stand and gave her testimony amid hysterical sobs.

CRIES TO WIFE

As she began to talk, Gorguloff stretched out both his arms and attempted to climb out of the dock to embrace her, crying:

"Anne, Anne, my darling."

Guards forced him back into his seat and Mme. Gorguloff continued her testimony.

She said Gorguloff was a good husband, and until a few days before the assassination was perfectly normal. Then he seemed queer and had strange mannerisms.

A few days before Gorguloff left her in Monaco and went up to Paris they went to a movie together, she said. President Doumer appeared in a news reel and her husband applauded. He told her he admired the President. She said:

"I can't imagine why he killed him, and I can't understand these reports that he was cruel to his former wives. He has been so good to me."

Mme. Gorguloff dropped to her knees at the conclusion of her testimony. She pleaded:

"Have pity on me and my unborn child."

Weather Conditions.

Low pressure is centered over Eastern Ontario, the Dakotas and the Southwest, and highs are centered over Wisconsin, the Florida Peninsula and Alberta. As a result of the low pressure there is considerable cloudiness over the eastern half of the country and light to moderately heavy showers were quite general over the Central Mississippi Valley and eastward over the Ohio Valley states. Scattered showers occurred in the Gulf states. The weather is cool over the Upper Mississippi Valley states, while over the Ohio Valley states the weather is warm and humid. Maximum temperatures were somewhat higher yesterday than the preceding day. Temperatures of 98 to 100 degrees occurred in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

River Conditions.

Showers occurred over the entire river district during last night, but there was not sufficient rainfall to affect the rivers except at Confluence and Johnstown, where .48 and .75 inch respectively was reported. Stage at Franklin is 0.2 foot; Lock No. 7, 12.9; Pittsburgh, 9.9; Dam No. 4, 8.8; No. 6, 7.4; No. 10, 8.5, and No. 12, 7.3. The dams are up.

Airplane Honeymoon

MISS LAURA MORGAN . . . . . SHE'S MARRYING TODAY

The socially prominent aviatrix, formerly of Pittsburgh, who becomes the bride of Robert David Jackson, of South Salem (N. Y.) at her home, 1111 Park avenue, New York City, late this afternoon. Her sister, Mrs. William M. Young, is to be matron of honor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Spencer Morgan.

SOCIETY FLIER WEDS TODAY

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 27.—(INS.)—Details of the wedding today of Miss Laura Morgan, socially prominent aviatrix, formerly of Pittsburgh, to Robert David Jackson, of South Salem, N. Y., have been announced by her mother, Mrs. Truman Spencer Morgan, 1111 Park avenue.

The wedding will be held in the home at 5 p. m. with only relatives present. The bride will be given in marriage by her father.

The couple plan an airplane trip as a honeymoon.

SIGN ARBUCKLE FOR NEW FILM

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle is returning to pictures.

Warner Brothers today announced that it was signing the one time film comedian for a comedy—a two or three-reeler to be made in its Brooklyn plant, with the possibility of more later.

The former slap-stick star has not appeared in pictures since 1921, when he was acquitted in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, film actress, in San Francisco, although he directed many films. Recently he has been touring the East in vaudeville.

At the time of his disappearance from the films, Paramount Pictures Corporation announced that films featuring Arbuckle and costing $500,000 had been permanently scrapped.

2 STEEL PLANTS TO REOPEN

Officials of two large steel mills in the Pittsburgh area announced today that their plants would resume operations Monday. They are the Edgar Thompson works of the Carnegie Steel Company, Braddock, and the Donora plant of the American Steel and Wire Company.

Large orders for steel rails, including one from the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be turned out by the Braddock mill.

The Colonial Steel Company's plant at Monaca reopened yesterday, after a shutdown of almost three months.

Mills in many other sections of Western Pennsylvania are reported showing increased signs of activity. Among them are Allegheny Steel Company, Brackenridge; Latrobe plant of the Vanadium-Alloys Steel Company, and the Ambridge plant of the American Bridge Company.

Finland's Capital Guarded From Riots

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 27.—(INS.)—The capital was under an especially heavy guard today to prevent outbreaks of violence by the Lapuan organization, a Fascist anti-Communist group, as 102 of its members were placed on trial in Abo in connection with the armed uprising of 10,000 Lapuans at Mantsala last April.

The trial probably will last for many weeks as the defendants will get hearings in small groups.

'Third Degree' Blamed For Tragedy By Deserted Wife

International News Service.

SPRING LAKE HEIGHTS, N. J., July 27.—A pathetic letter left by Mrs. Elsa Eckert, 27, who killed her daughter, Muriel, 6, and herself, in which she intimated her tragic act was indirectly precipitated by "third degree" methods used on her husband by the New Jersey state police, was found today.

Mrs. Eckert put the child in the back seat of her automobile in the garage, closed the doors of the building, then sat at the wheel after turning on the switch of the car. She and Muriel died from carbon monoxide fumes.

The letter, addressed to a newspaper, said Mrs. Eckert's husband, a shell-shocked war veteran, was mentally affected after a grilling to which he was subjected because of an automobile accident, and that he left home as a consequence.

Because of this desertion, Mrs. Eckert wrote, she decided "to end it all."

BURNED IN CELL

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 27.—(AP.)—Michael Mastovitch, 30, Trumbull farmer, was burned to death last night in a padded cell at police headquarters. Police expressed the opinion the prisoner set the fire.

Officials said Mastovitch was transferred from a regular cell to the padded cell when he became violent and abusive. He was arrested shortly before the fire on a charge of drunkenness.

Pending an investigation, Dr. H. R. Deluca, medical examiner, withheld a verdict in the case, while police said they had not determined whether the fire was set accidentally or with suicidal intent.

Officials explained that prisoners held over night on minor charges are permitted to smoke in their cells. Smoke caused by burning excelsior thwarted policemen in their efforts to free Mastovitch.

NEW 'TORTURE' CHARGES

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 27.—(INS.)—Additional charges against the 13 indicted police officers of Nassau County accused in connection with the "third degree murder" of Hyman Stark, New York bandit, will be considered Friday by the grand jury, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards said today.

Special endeavors will be made by the jurors, he stated, to determine whether any of the men who testified at the John Doe hearing presided over by Justice Meier Steinbrink were guilty of perjury.

MELLON VISITS MILLS, STIMSON

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—Andrew W. Mellon, ambassador to Great Britain, returned to Washington today on a vacation from his foreign post, and immediately began conferences with his former Cabinet associates.

First, he went to the Treasury Department which he directed for more than a decade, and talked for some time with his successor, Ogden L. Mills.

Then he went to the State Department to visit Secretary Stimson.

'Padre of the Jobless' Back Home

DR. EARLE J. COX THE REV. FATHER ZAPORA THE REV. JAMES R. COX

Father Cox being greeted today by his brother and his asistant in the rectory of Old St. Patrick's Church as he returned from his European trip. With a healthy tanned complexion and his weight at 230, Father Cox is ready to continue his "Jobless Party" campaign and will go again to Washington to visit the Bonus Army. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

MURREN SEEKS REPEAL STEP

READING, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Resolutions condemning third degree practices, and placing the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association on record as favoring repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, were presented at the opening session yesterday of the association's twentieth convention.

Both resolutions were sponsored by George W. Murren, chief of the Allegheny County detectives. Action was expected today.

State President B. B. Scheetz, of Pottstown, told the delegates:

"We are still restive under the provisions of the motor code, prohibiting police officers from making arrests for summary offenses. We are still unable to get a definition of intoxication (for motorists)."

James Balmer, of Pittsburgh, representing the State Fire Fighters' Association, asked for co-operation in demanding stronger civil service laws from the state Legislature.

New York Hails Newest U. S. Liner

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS.)—After a triumphant entry to New York harbor through a lane of harbor craft whistling and sirening greetings, the newly-built Manhattan, destined for the North Atlantic service to Europe, today will be formally taken over by the United States Lines.

The Manhattan, when she reached Quarantine from a test cruise to Rockland, Me., was escorted to her dock by a squadron of airplanes and the giant Navy dirigible Akron.

Girl Ending Life In Sea Identified

NORFOLK, Va., July 27.—(INS.)—A young woman who committed suicide yesterday by leaping from the steamship George Washington, on which she was traveling from New York, was identified by police today as Miss Constance Callister, of Brooklyn.

NEW ROMANCE FOR CHEVALIERS

CANES, France, July 27.—(INS.)—Once they are divorced, Maurice Chevalier and Yvonne Vallee will embark upon a romance they believe will bloom and blossom uninterrupted without marriage bonds, the pretty dancer revealed today.

Characterizing reports of "another woman" in the smiling screen star's life as "perfect nonsense," Mlle. Vallee expounded a new philosophy of love, insisting she and Chevalier will have a perfect right to live together again when the courts have dissolved their matrimonial ties.

Their love, she told the newspaper Petit Nicosis, could not have lasted under the bond of marriage.

Glacier Priest Rests After Long Journey

VICTORIA, B. C., July 27.—(AP.)—After exploring Aniackchak, largest active crater in the world, by air and foot, the Rev. Father Bernard R. Hubbard, Glacier priest of Santa Clara University, is resting here after five months of scientific research.

Priest Maps Plans For Jobless Party Convention

Father James R. Cox, candidate for President, friend of the needy and pastor of Old St. Patrick's Catholic Church, was back in Pittsburgh from Europe today with a desire to be named to the Public Service Commission.

Owner of a healthy tan acquired in Europe, to say nothing of a few pounds which raised his avoirdupois to 230, the leader of the Jobless Party expressed great interest in Gov. Pinchot's attempts to gain control of the commission. He said:

"I'd like to be on that commission. It would be fine. I'd be in a position then to show those utilities something."

MELLON ON SHIP

On the liner Majestic, which brought him back, Father Cox saw a fellow Pittsburgher, who was also a passenger, countless times, but never talked with him. That was Andrew W. Mellon, ambassador to England.

Father Cox's willingness to serve on the Public Service Commission has not abated his interest in the Jobless Party convention he has called for St. Louis next month. In fact, he is convinced more than ever that his followers will be heard politically at the November election.

SEES NEED OF DOLE

He returned to his parish after an all-night drive from New York with these convictions:

That the people will never submit to another winter of hard times.

That this country needs a dole.

That the government should take over the banks and eliminate the private bankers' profits.

Father Cox intends to go to Washington within the next week to urge the bonus army to stay there. He said:

"Why shouldn't they picket the White House if they want to? I'm not going to interfere with that. I am going to tell them to stay there till hell freezes over. The government's trying to get them out because it looks bad for the government."

Lost Indian Child Found Exhausted

GALLUP, N. M., July 27.—(AP.)—Hysterical and almost exhausted from lack of food, Sam Wauneta's 3-year-old Navajo son, lost for five days in the Crystal Mountains, was found by an Indian searching party yesterday. Supt. John Hunter said the boy had wandered 15 miles from his father's home.

TELLS HOW 69 CADETS DIED IN SHIPWRECK

Rescuer of 37 Gives Vivid Story of German Tragedy

KIEL, Germany, July 27.—(AP.)—A group of buoys bobbed on the surface of Kiel bay today over the spot where 69 German naval cadets drowned yesterday when the old three-masted windjammer Niobe, used as a training vessel, went down in a squall. The tragedy was described by the commander of the rescue ship which picked up the survivors.

The 69 youths were trapped at their desks in the schoolroom between the decks when the Niobe sank in a twinkling, in 11 fathoms of water.

37 RESCUED

Only six of those below decks saved themselves as the barkentine plunged. Thirty-seven in all were saved, including the captain, his lieutenant, 17 of the crew and 18 cadets. They were rescued by the steamer Therese Russ, which was nearby.

The Niobe was a war prize. Originally she was a four-master and was reconditioned for a training ship. For two years she was commanded by Count Felix von Luckner, dubbed "the sea devil" for his exploits during the war.

The catastrophe is the third of its kind to overtake the navy. On November 14, 1861, the school ship Amazone sank off Holland and 145 were lost. On December 16, 1900, the Gneisenau was rammed near Malta with a loss of 40 drowned.

DESCRIBES TRAGEDY

Capt. Mueller of the steamer Therese Russ reported to port authorities today how he rescued the 37 men floundering in the sea after the Niobe keeled over. He said:

"It was 2:30 p. m., and the weather was good. The Do-X (German flying boat) had just passed us. We made out the sailing vessel off the port side.

"After we began signaling I noticed a black cloud squall creeping down on the ship. At the same instant the wind whipped to the strength of 'nine' and the ship turned over.

"Our boats kept plying back and forth, picking up men from water. Some of them had had to swim for an hour before we got them. Only six of the group that was attending class survived. They had been studying the theory of navigation."

TRUSTED CLERK TAKES FORTUNE

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS.)—Swept swiftly from the playgrounds of the rich, where he confessed he maintained himself by embezzling $650,000 over a period of years, a "trusted clerk" sat in the opulent offices of his employers, J. S. Bache & Co., today, aiding accountants uncover his vast defalcations.

The lure of night clubs, the excitement of race horses and the frenzied money-making possible in stock gyrations, the middle-aged man admitted, led him systematically to rob his firm for 14 years of something like $1,000 a week.

The vast theft, one of the largest recorded in a brokerage house by an individual, was revealed by the Bache Company.

The firm withheld the name of the defalcater, said to have been in the cashier's department and to have received $30 a week salary.

Farmer Dies From Sting of Hornet

POTTSTOWN, Pa., July 27.—(INS.)—Stung by a hornet while mowing hay on his farm near Grubb's Mill, nine miles north of here, Jacob E. Gauger, 49, farmer, was dead today as a result of the insect's sting.

Coroner Ronald Dettre issued a certificate of death ascribing the fatality as due to blood poisoning caused by the sting.

Ghostly Tenor Chants Over Convicts' Graves

JOLIET, Ill., July 27.—(AP.)—A graveyard singer is playing to a packed cemetery, but whether he gets anything for his trouble no one knows.

No one has seen him, but his tenor voice, described as high-pitched and clear, is attracting hundreds of persons to the potters' field in which are buried the convicts who die in the Illinois State Penitentiary.

At midnight or after the singer begins chanting in Latin. Crowds of curious have been staying up all night to see what it's all about. Some of them have hurried to the section of the graveyard from which the voice seems to come, only to hear the chant die away.

A majority of the persons who have been listening believe the singing is the work of some fanatic who is enjoying a hoax, but the superstitious recall that murderers executed in the state prison lie buried in the graveyard.

Skeptical prison officials are checking up on trusties to see if any of them have a flare for music that's sung in Latin.

LIGHTING RATE OVERCHARGE EXPOSED

advantage of the lower rate to which the company's filed rate schedules entitle him.

The extent to which the utility firm ignored acquainting domestic consumers of the lower rate was revealed today in adjustment demands made for the 27-apartment Princess Anne building at 321 Beverly road, Mt. Lebanon. The owner, A. G. Thomas, complained of the high bills being received by occupants of the building. All apartments are four rooms or less. Repeated complaints broughe Thomas into contact with several representatives of the company. He declared not one reference was made to Rate "B." Until acquainted by the Sun-Telegraph, he was unaware of such a tariff.

SITUATION UNCHANGED

Apartment buildings checked on Washington road, Florida avenue, Academy avenue, Buchanan place, Roselawn avenue and other parts of Mt. Lebanon revealed the same situation. One large realty office paying for electricity for tenants in several other locations likewise learned of the lower rate for the first time. Other real estate men of that district, some of whom pay a few light accounts, expressed surprise.

The majority of contracts investigated had been signed within the past year. Not one contract was based on Rate "B."

The higher rate is referred to by the company as Rate "C." It is figured on the following bracket structure: First 10 kilowatt hours, 9 cents; next 20, 6½ cents; next 30, 4 cents, and remaining kilowatt hours at 3 cents. This is the rate that has been accorded to consumers apparently without regard to the size of the apartment or house. A representative of the company said it was the rate applicable to customers with one to seven rooms.

RATE APPLIES

Rate "B," as explained by the representative, is applicable to all accounts of four rooms or less, whether houses or apartments. He stated the bathroom is not counted as a room. The bracket structure for this rate follows: First 10 kilowatt hours, 9 cents; next 20 kilowatt hours, 6½ cents, and remaining kilowatt hours at 3 cents. This rate eliminates the 4-cent bracket, the 30 kilowatt hours being charged at 3 cents and thereby causing the 30 cents a month saving if 60 kilowatt hours are used.

When first questioned as to an existing lower rate, the representative ignored any reference to it. The questioning was done by a domestic consumer entitled to rate "B." The representative answered that rate "C" was the general charge applied for some time to all dwellings under seven rooms. Persistent questioning finally brought the admission that a little-used rate existed. A request that the account in question be changed brought the consumer the lower rate.

'UP TO CUSTOMERS'

G. W. Ousler, general sales manager of the Duquesne Light Company, when questioned as to why the lower rate was not in more general use, contended that it is the customers' responsibility to seek the most advantageous rate available. He said rates are explained to customers at the time they apply for contracts.

Of scores of persons interviewed, however, none could be found who could recall having been given any explanation of rate except perfunctory and generally unenlightening answers to questions.

Ousler's statement:

"Four-room dwellings are generally better off under rate B. At the time the consumer applies for a contract he is told of the prevailing rates. In the case of a small domestic consumer, while it is not our duty to do so, we do recommend the best rate. It is the customers' responsibility to choose his own rate, selecting for himself what he thinks is most advantageous. It is not our responsibility if he is on a wrong rate. He is entitled to any saving he can get by coming in and asking that the proper rate be applied to him."

RAIL SLEUTHS BEATEN, 10 HELD

Fourteen men were committed to the county jail late yesterday for 10 days, as a result of an attack on two Pennsylvania Railroad police early yesterday. The arrests grew out of an alleged series of ice thefts by a mob numbering 70 persons from refrigerator cars in the Forty-fifth street yards, according to railroad attaches.

The police were guarding the cars against the looting when they were set upon by some of the crowd, according to Justice of the Peace James A. Hernon, before whom the 14 were arraigned.

For several weeks the stolen ice has been peddled to Strip speakeasies, Hernon said.

CORONER FREES 2 IN SHOOTING

Angelo Delos, 40, alleged common-law husband of Emma Stefanon, 28, Castle Shannon, who was shot to death Sunday, and Delos' cousin, Toney Elekis, 37, are free today following a coroner's inquest into the shooting yesterday. Witnesses declared the pair had nothing to do with the death.

Search for an Italian couple and the father of Miss Stefanon's 3-year-old son, thought to have visited the Delos home Sunday, continued. Detectives hoped the visitors might shed some light on the death, which they said they feel was self-caused.

WARREN HELD FOR BOARD BILL

William L. Warren, 62, alleged bigamist, was taken from his county jail cell last night to the office of Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan, of Sewickley, and held for court, charged with defrauding R. R. Kuhn, proprietor of the Elmhurst Inn, Sewickley, of a $194 board bill.

Kuhn alleged Warren gave him a worthless check for the bill incurred last fall while registered there under the name of A. B. Lee.

Warren was alleged to have bigomously married Mrs. Estella Venn, of 5115 Ellsworth avenue, and to have gone through $40,000 of her money.

GIRL DROWNED, ONE RESCUED

A girl was drowned and a companion escaped when they waded beyond their depth in the Monongahela River at Port Perry, late yesterday. The victim was Sophia Skallos, 15, of 1206 Pine way, Braddock. Her body was recovered by Paul Gray, of 425 Robins street, Braddock.

Her companion, Mary Danielich, 15, of 1131 Pine way, was rescued by Leo Nagle, 18, of North Braddock.

Woman in Girl Mart Case Gets Retrial

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(AP.)—The state district court of appeals has ordered a new trial for Mrs. Olive Clark Day, convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, Clarice Tauber, through an alleged girl market in Hollywood.

Mrs. Day's trial grew out of charges which involved Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, but he was freed when a jury disagreed.

Ambridge Churchmen Launch War on Vice

AMBRIDGE, Pa., July 27.—Impatient when, they declare, borough officials ignored their demand for a cleanup of vice conditions, church members organized the Ambridge Citizens' Association at a meeting in the United Presbyterian Church. Patterned after the "Secret Six" in Chicago, the group will aid the police in investigations and prosecutions. The Rev. Thomas E. Graham was chosen president.

Woman Assured Home Under Will

A home for life is assured Mrs. Rose Nicodemus by the will of Ernest H. Mantle, of McKees Rocks, probated today. His estate is worth $26,000. In addition to giving Mrs. Nicodemus free occupancy of the property at 324 Grove street, McKees Rocks, he set up a trust fund of $4,000 for taxes and repairs. He created a trust fund of $9,000 for his daughter, Alice H. Mohr, and arranged for the education of his grandson, R. H. Mohr.

Landlady's Slayer To Get Quick Trial

CAPE MAY COURTHOUSE, N. J., July 27.—(AP.)—James Kee, 52, of Philadelphia, alleged confessed slayer of his former landlady, Mrs. Catherine Reynolds, 45, also of Philadelphia, may go on trial for his life before the end of August, Prosecutor T. Millet Hand said last night.

Hand declared he would call a special meeting of the grand jury "within a few days."

Lightning Clue Void In Pants-Snatching

WINNIPEG, Man., July 27.—(AP.)—What Mrs. Ida Brick saw in a flash of lightning was not sufficient evidence to convict Ephriam Suchlak of pants-snatching, Magistrate Graham has ruled in police court.

Mrs. Brick testified yesterday that during a lightning flash she saw a man at her bedroom window lift her husband's pants from a chair. The trousers contained $150. She picked Suchlak from 20 others in a lineup, but he denied the charge.

Shipping Interests Consider Rate Boost

PARIS, July 27.—(AP.)—The possibility of an increase in steamship fares because of disappointing results of recent reductions was considered today at a joint meeting of Atlantic and Mediterranean shipping interests.

BUCK CAPTURED ANIMALS EARLY

Frank Buck, responsible for the new picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," had an early penchant for wild animals, serpents and reptiles. As a lad he caught rattlesnakes with a forked stick in the mesquite country near San Angelo, Tex.

In his 'teens he went to Chicago, became a bank clerk, but continued to follow natural history, and acquired considerable scientific knowledge about some wild animals later destined to make him famous as an animal hunter.

He saved to finance a personal trip to South America, and, with his knowledge of ornithology and several lucky "breaks," he was able to cover the expenses and show a small profit. Obtaining financial backing, he began his career in earnest. In two years, he made another trip to South America and his first to Africa. Since then not a year passed which did not find him in a part of the uncivilized world, "bringing 'em back alive."

Still a young man, Explorer Buck brings to the world "Bring 'Em Back Alive," an outstanding motion picture production, which comes to the Warner Theater Friday.

GRONAU TO FLY TO PACIFIC

MONTREAL, July 27.—(AP.)—Wolfang Von Gronau, who reached here yesterday evening after a trans-Atlantic flight from Germany over the Arctic route, is going on to Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee and the Pacific Coast, he said today.

He indicated he has no idea of attempting a flight around the world over the route which Col. Lindbergh followed last year, but that his flight and the two trans-Atlantic trips which preceded it had no objective but the charting of a speedy service by air from Europe to the Pacific.

He will stay here until Thursday and then go on to the Coast. He expects that the trip will take about two weeks, for he intends to make a complete study of flying conditions along the way.

Fliers Preparing For U. S.-Oslo Hop

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Plans for the first nonstop flight from New York to Oslo, Norway, have been announced by Thor Solberg, 39, and Carl Petersen, 34.

Solberg, who is in the picture frame business in Brooklyn, and a pilot of six years' experience, said the flight would be attempted before August 15.

Pittsburgh Sleuth Held for Court

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 7.—(AP.)—Morris A. Hecht, of Pittsburgh, and Constable James H. Ellison, of New Castle, waived hearings yesterday on charges of illegal prosecutions under the state ficticious names act. They were held for court.

Police say they prosecuted small business men in this city, forcing the merchants to register their trade names of their enterprises.

7 Workmen Hurt As Tank Explodes

EAST BRAINTREE, Mass., July 27.—(AP.)—Seven men were burned and injured, at least three seriously, when an explosion when an explosion which rocked the south shore for miles occurred in an empty 55,000-gallon storage tank on the property of the Cities Service Refining Company here today.

Five of the injured were cleaning the tank when the explosion occurred. It was feared one man would die

ROME, July 27.—(AP.)—Count Alberto Del Bono, a senator and retired admiral who was minister of marine in the war time Italian cabinet of Premier Orlando, died last night.

RED BANK PLOT REVEALED

PONTIAC, Mich., July 27.—(AP.)—State police sent out today for the arrest of George Rowland on a charge that he acted as the Detroit agent of a radical group which planned a social revolution by the circulation of rumors attacking a number of large banks in the country. The officers said that a raid on Rowland's hotel room here yesterday revealed the ramifications of the plot.

Capt. Ira H. Marmon, of the state police, who directed an investigation of Rowland's activities here for several days and who led the raid on his room in the Roosevelt Hotel yesterday, said that letters and telegrams seized in the raid established that Rowland had directed the circulation of rumors against banks in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan and that he had been instrumental in attacks against the First National Bank here.

Marmon said that the letters showed that Rowland was one of several regional directors of attacks against banks and that a number of subordinates were working under his direction in the Middle West, particularly in Chicago and Cleveland.

ROGERS VICTOR IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 27.—(AP.)—A flood of votes today had nominated a comparatively unknown country school-master with a magic name—Will Rogers—to make the Democratic race for Oklahoma Congressman-At-Large office.

Rogers amazed political observers by surging more than 100,000 votes ahead of Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities, in the tabulation of returns from yesterday's run-off primary.

Elmer Thomas, the state's senior United States Senator, known for his leadership of the oil tariff and soldier's bonus legislative fights, won Democratic renomination. He defeated Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City lawyer, who had waged a vigorous campaign.

Campaign to Reopen Bank Successful

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 27.—The campaign to reorganize and reopen the Union Trust Company of this city was successful. Campaign workers reported 4,691 shares of stock had been subscribed, surpassing the required total. The State Banking Department required that $270,000 be raised to refinance the Union Trust Company.

This afternoon brings a marriage of note down in Washington. The bride is Elvira Lindsay Johnson, daughter of Capt. Alfred W. Johnson, of the United States Navy, and sister of Mrs. James Elwyn Brown. The bridegroom is Charles B. Elbrick, of Louisville, Ky.

The ceremony is to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in St. Matthew's Church, of Washington, with Mgr. John P. Chidwick, of New York, officiating.

The bride will wear a gown of white lace and a veil of tulle and lace, and carry orchids. Attending her will be her sister as matron of honor and six bridesmaids. George Meriell, Jr., of Washington, will be best man.

Following the ceremony will be a reception in the home of the bride's father and mother. After a honeymoon, Mr. Elbrick and his bride will leave for Wellington, New Zealand, where he has been appointed vice consul. Like her sister, Mrs. Brown, daughter-in-law of Mrs. James Elwyn Brown, Sr., married into the diplomatic service. Her husband is secretary of the American legation at Santo Domingo.

There's more news, too, about the approaching marriage of Anita Shields, of Philadelphia and New York, niece of Mrs. Harry Darlington, Jr., of Sewickley. She is to wed Lieut. Alasdair MacLean, of the Isle of Mull, Scotland, at Callender House, the home of the Robert Clarksons, of Bayville, Long Island, uncle and aunt of the bride-to-be, on August 9.

To Wed Aug. 9

The ceremony will take place in the garden. And after the wedding the bride and bridegroom will sail for England to live at Aldershot on the Salisbury Plain. Her Royal Highness Princess Louise, an aunt of King George and godmother of the bridegroom, will present the bride at the Court of St. James next May.

This coming week-end Anita and her fiance will be guests of Mrs. Darlington at her Watch Hill home, and so will be Audrey MacLean, Mr. MacLean's sister.

One of the coolest places I know of is the Allegheny Country Club. Sewickley Heights. And Sewickley Heights dwellers must be of the same opinion, for scores and scores lunch there daily, play a little golf, or bridge, or chat, or do all three.

* * *

In one luncheon group yesterday were Mrs. Lewis A. Park and her house guest, Lydia Maxwell, of Villa Nova, Pa., and Mrs. H. H. Robinson.

Mrs. B. F. Jones II, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Laughlin Robinson arrived together for luncheon, and Betsy Liggett and Dorothy Bell were there, too.

OPERA STAR WEDS

MRS. DONALD GREY BRIEN . . . . . SHE'S LOUISE LERCH, FORMER METROPOLITAN SOPRANO

MRS. WALTER DEARTH AND MRS. J. L. D. PAINTER . . . OFF TO LUNCHEON, ROUND ON LINKS

Louise Lerch, Opera Star, Married To Pittsburgh Man in Oldest U. S. Protestant Church

In the oldest Protestant church in America, a Metropolitan Opera star became the bride of a Pittsburgh man today. The bride is Louise Lerch, of Allentown, a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company for a number of years, and the bridegroom, Donald Gray Brien, of Pittsburgh, son of the late William C. Brien, of Boston.

They were married this morning at 9 o'clock in the Augustus Lutheran Church at Trappe, Pa., near Easton, by the Rev. Dr. George A. Greiss, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Allentown.

Palms and snow-white hollyhocks decked the historic church for the ceremony. The bride wore a simple gown of white organdie, in bouffant style, and a handmade hat of white organdie. Her only ornament was a brooch of onyx and diamonds, set in platinum, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white daisies. There were no attendants, because of the recent death of the bride's father.

A wedding breakfast in the historic Franklin Inn at Trappe followed the ceremony, after which the Briens left by motor for New York. They will sail tonight on the S. S. Bremen for seven weeks in Europe, and will be at home in Maryland avenue, Pittsburgh, after October 1.

Their wedding marked the culmination of a romance that began nine years ago.

The bride has been keenly intrested in music from childhood. She studied with Perly Dunn Aldrich, of Philadelphia, was a pupil of Marilla Sembrich for five years, and was the first young woman graduated from the Curtis Institute to be engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company.

She coached with Richard Hageman, studied Italian opera with Riccardo Dellera, and German opera with Paul Eisler. After having been engaged by the Metropolitan in 1926, she made her debut November 7 of that year in Verdi's "Rigoletto."

The bride has sung the leading soprano roles in four of the most important operas of the Metropolitan repertoire, "Rigoletto," "Lucia Di Lammermoor," "Le Cog D'Or" and "L'Africaine." In most of the principal cities throughout the East and New England, as well as in Palm Beach and Miami, she has been concertized.

Mr. Brien is a graduate of Harvard and is a member of the Penn Athletic Club, of Pittsburgh, and is an active sportsman. He is one of the outstanding business men of Pittsburgh.

The bride will continue her concert work after her honeymoon.

Widow to Pay Tax On 'Lost' $6,853

BEAVER, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—An oversight on the part of William H. Hayes before he died, 18 months ago, has cost his widow a $6,853 bank deposit. Hayes gave his wife his savings account in an East Liverpool, O., bank, but failed to give her the pass book.

Judge Frank E Reader yesterday ruled Mrs. Hayes must pay an inheritance tax, but cannot have the account.

Federal Building Strike Near End

Early settlement of the strike of hoisting engineers at the $8,000,000 postoffice and federal building, Seventh avenue and Grant street, was indicated today by representatives who yesterday conferred in Washington.

Numerous Women Given Hand in Helping Govern State

Women's clubs have certainly gone a long way from their beginning as small cultural study groups. Clubwomen nowadays have a finger in every pie, even in government groups.

Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, prominent Pittsburgh club woman, representing the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is a member of Gov. Gifford Pinchot's permanent executive committee on safety on the highways and streets. Miss Gertrude Ely, of the League of Women Voters, is another club woman on the committee.

Women Serve

There are also clubwomen represented in Mr. Pinchot's subcommittees. Miss Helen A. Blair, of the Business and Professional Woman's Clubs, is on the accident statistics and analysis committee.

Miss S. M. R. O'Hara, of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, is on the traffic control and enforcement committee.

The vice chairman of the educational committee is Mrs. D. Edwin Miller. In this same group are Mrs. Richard J. Hamilton, of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, and Mrs. Walter E. Greenwood, of the Congress of Parents and Teachers.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Steim, of New Kensington, chairman of juniors in the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, will talk over KDKA Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, the Federation radio period. Mrs. Kathryn Dempcy, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Gable, will sing.

GROWNUPS BORROW STYLES FOR BEACH

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 27. — French mothers are borrowing fashions from their children these days. Little-girl styles, such as puffed sleeve, wide sashes tied with big bows and full frilly skirts, are among the novelties worn at some of the most sophisticated night clubs in Paris. Organdie and emeralds become partners in this new regime of young fashions, and school-girl aprons take on a new importance of style.

* * *

ONE DESIGNER has gone so far as to reproduce, for older women, the cotton apron worn by French children and young girls as the standard equipment of boarding schools. The grown-up version is an accurate copy of the children's apron, yoke, plaits, little sleeves and all.

* * *

VERA BOREA, the designer, shows this new apron as a practical costume for the beach or the country. It is made, like its original, of white pique, printed with tiny flowers in red, blue and other bright colors. The only sophisticated touch in the entire frock is a braided belt, made of raffia.

* * *

THE LELONG dress shown in the sketch is one of the new flannel frocks that are appearing by the dozens in every resort town along the Riviera. Both white and gray flannel are of great fashion importance this year, since they are light and cool in warm weather; yet warm enough for sudden gusts of cool weather.

* * *

THERE IS also a little jacket of the white flannel, carrying out the same blue-and-white color scheme, and fastening with the same brass buttons as are shown across the front of the dress belt.

WENDEL CLAIM ATTACKED

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS.)—Attorneys for the Wendel estate today attacked, through cross examination, the story told on the stand yesterday by Thomas Patrick Morris, 52-year-old Scotchman, who claims to be the son of John J. Wendel, who died leaving a fortune of millions of dollars in real estate. The lawyers brought out that Wendel was in New York in June, 1901, at the time he was supposed to have been in Dundee, Scotland, giving a book to Morris in which he had written his last will and testament.

Morris, a thin man suffering from angina pectoris, testifying before Surrogate James A. Foley in the fight for the estate, claimed that through this "will" Wendel left all of his fortune to him. At the time he received the "will" Morris was 21 years old.

Dates for Voters To Qualify for November Polls

Here are the dates on which residents of Allegheny County may qualify to vote for President and other offices at the November election:

September 7—Last day to be assessed for payment of poll taxes, a tax receipt being necessary to register.

September 8—First registration day in second and third-class cities, includin Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

September 20—Second registration day.

October 8—Third and last registration day, also last day to pay poll taxes.

September 6 and 7—Register assessors will sit at polling places in boroughs and townships to list those wh may have been omitted in house-to-house canvass.

CHILDREN RUSH TO GET PARK TICKETS

There was a rush at the Exchange Station today for the free strips of tickets the Sun-Telegraph is giving boys and girls for the celebration of National Kiddies' Day at West View Park Tuesday. This annual event is taking importance in a nation-wide way and through the co-operation of West View Park, the Sun-Telegraph finds an opportunity to make the day more conspicuous in Pittsburgh than in any other city where it is being observed.

Tuesday will be "Kiddies' Day" in every sense of the word at West View. There will be contests for the youngsters, athletic events and music. The free tickets will include the Greyhound Coaster, Bumble Bug, Hilarity Hall, Whippet Coaster, Merry-Go-Round, Caterpillar, the Whip and the Cuddle-Up.

There is absolutely no charge for these strips of eight tickets. Any boy or girl who will clip three coupons, of different dates, may have a free strip of tickets or as many strips as he or she may want, provided that a set of three coupons clipped from the Sun-Telegraph is presented for each.

It isn't too late to get your tickets. The coupons will appear in the Sun-Telegraph up to and including Monday. You may start with the coupon in the Sun-Telegraph today. There is an Exchange Station in your neighborhood.

Look for the coupon in another part of today's Sun-Telegraph and arrange to go to the National Kiddies' Day celebration at West View—one of the most beautiful amusement parks in America.

Happiness Improbable in a Marriage Without Love

She doesn't love him, and she has a hunch that she'll be wretched if she marries him——

But on the other hand, if she doesn't grab while the grabbing's good, will she ever get another chance?

That's the story—believe it or not—that Rosie wants us to unscramble for her. She just simply can't decide for herself what she'll do!

Crazy? Yep. Nothing else but. But Rosie isn't alone in her craziness; for hemming and hawing is one of the best things we humans do. It's responsible for more picklements than anything else on earth.

"Dear Sally Martin:

"I am writing to you in the hope that you will advise me what to do.

"I have been going with a fellow for the last five months. He wants me to marry him, but I don't think I love him. We go out twice a week, and sometimes he does such stupid things that I don't know what to do. He is very jealous, and follows me all around, too.

"I don't know what to do about him. I don't know what to tell him, for fear he will do something desperate. He told me when I first started going with him that if I didn't say 'yes' he would leave home and never come back. Now I want to tell him I don't want to go out with him any more, but I don't know how to do it.

"And there is another thing, too. I am afraid that if I let him go, I won't get any other boy friend. But I don't care for him, really, and I know that if I marry him I will be miserable.

FEW BOY FRIENDS

"I am 20 years old and don't know if I can make up my own mind. I am considered nice-looking and have a good shape, but I haven't many boy friends. I am the first girl he ever went with, too, but I did go with another boy before I met him.

"Please help me. Tell me what you would do when your boy friend gets on your nerves and when you see other girls with nice boys and see that they love them.

"Sometimes I tell myself, 'Oh, he is all right. What do you want? You're no bargain yourself.' Then other times I can't even look at him.

"My mother says I am foolish, because he loves me very much, and I know that if I do break with him she will feel very badly about it. Please help me. What shall I do? "ROSIE."

SHOULD QUIT STALLING

What'll you do, kid?

Learn to do your own thinking, first off. I can't do it for you. It wouldn't be any good to you if I did; for we have to learn to kill our own snakes in this world if we're ever going to be worth shucks.

Quit stalling around! If you don't want to go with this man, tell him so, and don't worry about his "doing something desperate." He won't; and if he did, it wouldn't be your funeral.

You can't afford to go around tying yourself up in knots because someone else will go haywire if you don't. Nor should you marry anyone simply to please mamma. It's your life, young woman, and it's up to you to live it.

As for "not being able to get another boy friend"—hooey! No girl, in this day and age, needs to marry the first man who offers himself; and no girl can pick herself anything but grief by marrying a man she doesn't love and respect.

Romances Without Good Character Count for Little, Fay King Asserts

By FAY KING

We were discussing a prominent man whose family and home life are admired by all.

And it was recalled how once long ago he had been deeply in love with a certain girl.

Her mother was bitterly opposed to him. First, because he was of a different religious faith, and secondly because he was poor then and she thought he would never amount to anything.

Her daughter abided by her mother's decision and rejected him. She married another young man of whom her mother highly approved. It was a most unhappy marriage. He drank to excess and treated her shamefully. It ended in a separation.

The mother realized her great mistake too late.

She should have considered character only.

All else, without good character, counts for little.

Keeping the Feet Comfortable Is an Essential to Health

Recently I wrote about the importance of walking as a form of exercise, and there can be no questions of its value, providing the health of the feet permits walking in comfort. Today I want to give you a few rules relating to the care of the feet.

Dr. Copeland

Comfort in walking is possible only when the feet function normally. It is also true that to a remarkable degree the general health is dependent upon the health of the feet.

Disturbances in the nervous system and other unpleasant disorders often are traceable to the feet. Many of them are caused by wearing improper shoes, and this is particularly true of women. Too many of them wear shoes that are extremely pointed, or of smaller size than their foot calls for, or having unusually high heels. Men, too, are prone to neglect their foot health for the sake of fashion, or carelessly choose improperly fitting shoes because they do not realize the importance of well-fitted footwear.

Shoes that are too small never should be worn. If a mistake must be made, it is far better to wear shoes that are too large. Shoes should be broad and give ample room for movement of the toes. They should fit snugly in the arch, to give the necessary support, and the heels should be broad and low.

Callouses, bunions and bony deformities never should be overlooked. Neglecting them may lead to serious and permanent disability, or result in some painful, unsightly deformity of the foot.

If you have flat foot or weak foot, it is imperative that you wear proper footgear and do special foot exercises. These corrective exercises, most important in overcoming weakness of the muscles of the foot and leg, should be done in bare or stockinged feet. Following are a few of the accepted and recommended foot exercises.

Stand with the feet separated and slowly rise as high as possible upon the balls of the feet. Hold this position a few seconds, then slowly drop to the floor, carrying the weight upon the outer borders of the feet. Repeat this exercise 20 times a day.

Another good exercise is frequently to walk a short distance with the weight resting on the outer borders of the feet.

The so-called "circular exercise" also is popular. This is accomplished by placing one leg over the other knee and fully extending the foot, pointing the toes away from the body. Now make a circular motion with the foot pivoting on the angle joint, first down and to the left with the right foot, then up and back to the right to complete the circle. Keep this up for several minutes, then change legs and repeat in reverse motion with the left foot. This exercise can be easily taught to young children. Place a finger close to the big toe, and tell the child to follow the direction of your moving finger.

In infants, a tendency toward weak feet or flat feet can be overcome by use of the right shoes. While the bones are young and easily molded, the wrong position of the arches can be corrected by wearing proper shoes, and these should be worn as early as the second year. In most cases the shoe is reinforced by a wedge on the inner edge of the heel.

Flatness of the feet is believed in some cases to be hereditary. In any case, if you have flat feet, wear sensible shoes and give your feet the proper attention.

Answers to Health Queries

"A Reader." Q.—What causes the stomach to growl? 2—How much should a girl of 16, 5 ft. 4 inches tall, weigh?

A.—This may be due to indigestion. 2—She should weigh about 120 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

S. S. C. Q.—What do you advise for swollen and inflamed eyelids?

A.—Have an examination to determine the exact cause.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Gift.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

About a month ago my friend's mother sent me an Angora kitten as I had expressed a wish to have one. She formerly sold them for five dollars each, but mine was given to me. I feel that I would like to show my appreciation and thanks in some way or another ...perhaps by sending her some little gift. It would have to be inexpensive as I am not making very much money at present.

L.

I agree with you that it would be gracious and expressive of your appreciation of this kindness, if, with your letter of thanks, you sent a simple gift of some kind. It might be a box of flowers, if you wish. I think too, that a perfect gift would be one lovely sheer linen white handkerchief, beautifully monogrammed. This is always an acceptable gift, and can be a most lovely one. A book, too, that you think that she would enjoy. Or a simple tea or luncheon set, cloth and napkins, or, for luncheon, runners and napkins...you can get a lovely and effective one now for very little. Or one of the boxes of small jars of various kinds of jams and jellies...they are so attractive and so good. Or a simple and good-looking white glass vase, medium size.

Informal Invitation.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I would appreciate it a great deal if you will print in your column the correct invitation to be sent for an informal home wedding. There are to be about 75 guests.

2. How long before the wedding must the invitations be mailed? H.

1. The very best form is for the mother of the bride-to-be, the hostess of the occasion, to write notes worded something like this:

Dear Mary:

Betty and Tom are to be married on Tuesday, the first of September, in our home, at four o'clock, and you and Jack will surely be with us then, won't you? We are counting on you, and we won't be happy until we have your "yes." So do say it soon!

Dearest love from us all to you two dear friends.

Cordially yours,

2. Informal invitations of this kind are usually sent out about two weeks before the date set for the wedding.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

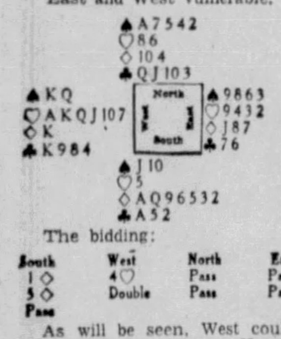
By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Capitalizing Mistakes

In order to secure the best possible result from the play of hands at Contract, the Declarer must not only be prepared to meet every eventuality, which reasonably occurs in the play of a hand, and use the combined strength of the closed and Dummy hands to the best advantage, but he must be quick to take advantage of the defensive mistakes of his opponents. Many a contract is made which a correct appraisal of the defensive possibilities of the cards would defeat, but when these mistakes do occur, the Declarer should be quick to grasp the chance.

An example of the capitalization of an opponent's mistake occurred on the hand below, which is also a lesson in defensive bidding, unblocking, and the creation of entries in a hand, which, to say the least, needed them.

South—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	4 ♡	Pass	Pass
5 ◇	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

As will be seen, West could have made four hearts. Hence, South's defensive overbid of five diamonds was excellent bidding, and his play was of such high order that he deserved the reward, which he eventually realized, of making his doubled contract.

West opened with the heart King, and continued with the second round of the suit. This was mistake No. 1. West could see that the question of entries to the Dummy might be vital, and his first step should have been to remove one when he could. His second lead should have been the spade King, and for his failure to make this play he was later to pay dearly.

The Declarer ruffed the second heart lead, and quickly appraised the trick-taking possibilities of his cards. It appeared unwise to him to sacrifice Dummy's only sure entry to take the doubtful finesse in the trump suit. Therefore, he laid down the diamond Ace, and dropped West's singleton King. This was the type of safety play too little used, but South followed it up on the same round by carefully playing the diamond 10 from Dummy. South now followed his masterly plan by leading a small club toward the sequence in Dummy. West won with the King, and thought his best chance of defeating the contract was an immediate return of the suit, reasoning that South must hold the Ace of clubs and at least one more small club, otherwise the suit would be blocked. From the play of the Ten of diamonds, it was clear that East must hold a guarded honor in the diamond suit through which the Declarer desired to finesse. It was too late, however, to defeat the contract. South won the return of the club with the Ace, led a spade, captured with the Ace in the Dummy, and led the 4 of diamonds, finessing with the 9, and then picking up East's Knave with the Queen. He was still able to enter Dummy with the small club, and discard his losing spade on Dummy's fourth club.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Mrs. Culbertson will be glad to answer any specific question on bidding or play sent in by readers. Address her in care of this newspaper, inclosing a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

North deals and bids one diamond. Should East bid two diamonds with the following hand?

♠K 8 5 ♡6 3 2 ◇A K ♣A K J 9 7

Answer: No. A bid of two diamonds over an opponent's one diamond bid is a forcing bid, and requires both partners to keep the bidding open until some game contract is reached, and therefore assumes as great an obligation as if he had made an opening two-bid.

A hand of this distribution would not justify an opening two-bid with less than 5½ honor-tricks. Consequently, it certainly would not justify a forcing bid when the majority of the outstanding strength is known to be concentrated in one of the opponents' hands. Forcing overcalls which are made in the teeth of the strength shown by an opponent's opening bid must, in all cases, be based on hands of great distributional strength; frequently, with a void in the opponents' suit, which assures no losers in that suit.

The proper bid on this hand is a takeout double, which would show more strength than would be indicated by a simple overcall of two clubs. Although the hand does not have the strength in spades which a takeout double infers, it does have a sound escape bid in clubs. A jump overcall of three clubs is, of course, not to be considered, as it would mislead partner as to the length of the club suit.

The Beauty Box

Mme. Fashion is no longer the iron-fisted old matriarch, she's sweetly lenient nowadays. There's this matter of the length of the skirt. You make it pretty much what you please, floor length, to ankle, to that point midway between ankle and knee. Girls with pretty pins are still displaying them. We note that most dresses are short enough for comfortable movements of the legs when walking, and evening frocks need not be trailing draperies that make the tall girl look like a beanstalk. "Make yourself beautiful," says madame. "Adjust the style laws to suit your individual case." Gracious old thing, isn't she?

If a girl isn't dainty, she might as well retire from the beauty race. Defects in grooming class her as second rate. Small matters, but they tell the story of lack of fastidiousness. Among those to be mentioned are the powder line on the neck of the frock, the handkerchief that is overdue on its journey to the laundry bag, finger nails that are fringed with untidy cuticle, neck napes that are ready for a good trimming, soiled shoulder straps out from under, shoes that need new taps, stockings with twisted seams and maybe wrinkles at the ankles. Smart gals avoid these lapses.

Merle Alcock, Opera Star, Sings Again Over WCAE; Sidney Teller Speaks

Merle Alcock, popular contralto formerly starred with the Metropolitan Opera Company, makes her second appearance of the season as guest artist with the Revelers and Victor Young's orchestra on WCAE tonight at 9 o'clock. During the program, she sings "Ma Li'l Batteau,' from Lily Strickland's group of Creole songs; Gartlan's "The Lilac Tree," "Soon," from Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band," and "We Will Always Be Sweethearts," written by Oscar Strauss for Maurice Chevalier's picture, "One Hour With You." The Revelers feature a medley of Stephen Foster selections.

Miss Alcock

Sidney A. Teller, director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, speaks on the topic, "Summer in the City," when he appears on KQV's "Pittsburgh Today" program tonight at 8. Mr. Teller's talk is based on the work of the Settlement.

The first of a new series of programs known as "Midsummer Matinee," composed of symphonic and special arrangements of popular melodies, is presented on WCAE today at 3 by an orchestra under the direction of Walberg Brown. The broadcasts originate in the WTAM, Cleveland, studios.

* * *

Program Pointers

Ruth Etting brushes aside a tear and plaintively sings "It Made You Happy When You Made Me Cry," "Tired" and a favorite from her album of glorified songs when she is starred with Nat Shilkret's orchestra on WJAS tonight at 10. The orchestra is heard in special versions of "Holding My Honey's Hand" and "Over the Weekend" .... On the same station at 7:30, the "Mardi Gras" musical revue with Helen Board, soprano; Theo Karle, tenor; the Four Eton Boys and a chorus ensemble, is scheduled. The program includes Miss Board's rendition of a current love song, "Remember Cherie."

Miss Etting

Schubert's "Serenade," as played by Josef Pasternack's orchestra, with Oliver Smith, tenor soloist, is the highspot of the Melody Moments concert on KDKA tonight at 8:30.

Marion Booth Kelley, prominent in Republican circles, discusses "The Need for Economy in Government" when she appears as guest speaker during the Women's Radio Review on WCAE today at 3:30.

The finals of the Radio Contest conducted by Station OOPS, in which Johnny Hart is competing, are broadcast over WCAE at 8 when the "Big Time" sketch is presented. Other artists competing for the grand prize are Alice Remsen, Thelma Johansen and Eugene Gibelli.

A play-by-play broadcast of the third double-header of the week between the Pirates and the giants in New York is scheduled on WWSW tomorrow at 1:45 p. m.

Neal Mowry, tenor, and Gertrude Mohr, pianist, return to the air in a new series of 15-minute programs on WJAS tonight at 7:15.

Joe Cook, who still refuses to imitate four Hawaiians, is the subject of Ward Wilson's mimicry on KDKA tonight at 7:15.

* * *

Fan Fare

Sammy Fuller, pianist with Duke and Gene on KDKA, is going around with an air of self-satisfaction this week. . . . Last Sunday he made a hole in one while playing golf at the Bobo-Link course at Aspinwall. . .The drive? One hundred and sixty yards. . . One of the most unique polo teams in the history of athletics has been formed by four NBC tenors —Frank Parker, Bob Simmons, Henry Shope and Julian Oliver. . . . They've challenged any amateur team in Greater New York to a game early in August.

Mr. Oliver

NBC's reading committee reports an increase of 50 per cent in scripts submitted by the public within the last month. They explain that the thousands of persons who formerly tried to write short stories and movie scenarios, are now trying radio drama.

Andy Sannella, the orchestra leader, uses the Morse code for inter-office communication with his musical arranger, Joe Schramm, and his younger brother, Mickey Sannella . . . Sannella and Schramm learned the code in the Navy, and Mickey learned from his big brother.

William Merrigan Daly has maps of highways in New York and New Jersey hanging around the walls in one of the rooms of his home . . .

Marion Harris, who frequently sang over NBC networks last year, is now with BBC in England . . .

CBS looks ahead with the lapel microphone and sees . . . a broadcast from a barrel bouncing over the brink of Niagara . . . eye-witness accounts via midget "mikes" in gas masks of war correspondents . . . drama from the Broadway stage . . . travelogues by explorers deep in the jungle or far out on the ice packs.

It's a boy at the Zoel Parenteaus . . . Zoel, Jr., was born yesterday and weighs 8 pounds 2½ ounces . . . Parenteau wields the baton for the KDKA staff orchestra.

Question Box

While visiting out of town recently, I tuned in on the "Lady Bugs." It was a two-piano program, but I didn't hear the name of the artists announced. Can you tell me who they are? Is it a network program?—B. M. S., Wilkinsburg.

Yes, the program is an NBC network feature. The "Lady Bugs" are Muriel Pollock and Vee Lawnhurst.

ESTEP PUSHES WHARF LOAN PROPOSAL

A conference on large scale wharf improvements was to be held by Congressman Harry A. Estep and leaders of the city administration today.

Estep is enthusiastic regarding the prospects of getting a major improvement to put large numbers of men to work in downtown Pittsburgh, provided City Council will indorse a definite plan. He will seek a loan of $5,000,000 from the United States Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

PLATFORM SKETCHED

Director Edward G. Lang has announced that he strongly favors the wharf improvement project. City engineers under Charles M. Reppert were yesterday drawing plans for a parking platform to rest on columns and an arched wall, and to extend from Smithfield street on the Monongahela River to Tenth street on the Allegheny River.

Estep said he will today seek a conference with Mayor Charles H. Kline and John S. Herron, president of Council. He said:

"I know of no improvement that would lend itself better to the idea for which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created than the work on the water fronts."

HAS SEVERAL PLANS

Reppert has several plans for wharf improvement, all of which would have to be submitted to the government engineers and meet the approval of the navigation interests. The decked platform would allow the river to rise beneath its arches with little or no interference to its flow.

River boats would be moored to a floating platform keyed to the outer edge of the arch. Large space would be available on the platform for parking and boulevards.

NURSE SEEKING ESTATE SHARE

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 27.—The legality of a common law marriage is to be argued in court here as the result of a contest over the will of William Albert Goldman, 60, real estate dealer of New Kensington.

Goldman died last October. His common law wife, Mrs. May Stayers, 48, formerly of Pittsburgh, has presented a petition asking a $500 exemption, $5,622 of the cash in the estate and one-half of the remainder. This claim is being opposed by 25 nephews and nieces.

Goldman's common law marriage took place in his home on May 24, 1930, it is declared. Mrs. Stayers maintains he placed a wedding ring on her finger and later introduced her as his wife. He met her while a patient in a Pittsburgh hospital in the winter of 1930 and took her home as his nursed during his convalescence.

Gets Prison Term For Wreck Attempt

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., July 27.—(AP.) Billy John, 21-year-old Navajo Indian, who attempted to wreck a westbound Santa Fe mail train "just to see what would happen" was sentenced yesterday to serve five to seven years in prison.

W. P. Mahoney, special agent for the railroad, reported 500 pounds of stones were placed on the tracks, but the only damage was to the engine.

Declares Liquor Was Only for Rubbing

The gallon and a half of moonshine Lieut. Robert McIntosh reported confiscating last night in the home of Stella Wachski, 34, of 2314 Josephine street, was what remained from rubbing marathon horseshoe pitchers who were pitching across the street. McIntosh said the won ... told him.

She was arrested on a charge of keeping a disorderly house and released on a forfeit.

Ex-Chile President Enters Argentina

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 27.—(AP.)—The press was officially advised last night that former President Dictator Carlos Ibanez had crossed the frontier into Argentina. There were no details.

Ibanez was "requested" to resume his exile in Argentina last week after his presence in Chile had precipitated a cabinet crisis.

GARBO SAILING, BUT SAYS SHE WILL RETURN

Famous Film Star To Resume Work In America

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Greta Garbo is coming back. The Swedish actress said so yesterday when she gave an interview after a mysterious vanishing act in the largest city in the world.

Would she return to America after her vacation?

"Yes, I will."

Was she planning to continue her screen career?

"Yes, I am."

Then she asked:

"Please go away. Yes, I am going to Sweden for a long rest. I have worked very hard and I need a vacation.

"I enjoy my stay in New York. I am going to see several plays before I go. Please go away."

Later she had a conference with her attorneys and it was understood she had come to an agreement for a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

GRETA GARBO IN THREE PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIES . . FIRST POSED PICTURES IN NEW YORK

It took photographers 24 hours to locate the glamorous film star, soon to sail for her native Sweden, but when they did find her she exceeded their greatest hopes by posing exclusively for the New York Journal photographer after he caught up with her car in the Bronx. URGES COUNTY RELIEF UNITS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Helen Glenn Tyson, state deputy secretary of welfare, flayed the township and borough system of poor relief as wasteful in a speech today before the Institute of Urban Problems. She advocated county welfare units.

The institute opened today and will continue until Friday.

Mrs. Tyson said her ideal county welfare board, for operation in counties of less than 500,000, would be composed of five to seven members appointed for six years at no compensation. Paid members would include director and whatever personnel he needed to take care of problems of probation, family relief, jurisdiction over dependent children, school attendance and similar problems.

M. G. Miller, statistician for the West Penn Electric Company of Pittsburgh, stressed the necessity of budgets, terming them "the signposts along the road of progress."

Femme Sole Trader Plea Filed by Woman

Mrs. Louisa Hartman, 447 Taylor avenue, who says she left her husband in October, 1926, has filed a petition asking to be declared a femme sole trader. Judge Frank P. Patterson fixed August 17 for the hearing. Mrs. Hartman alleges her husband has not contributed to her support since they separated.

Bears Answer Bell Calling Workmen To Dinner

MOUNT BAKER NATIONAL PARK, July 27.—(AP.)—Smart Mount Baker bears have learned a trick from a construction crew, and amble to camp when the dinner gong rings.

The cook summons the men to meals by hammering a huge triangle.

The bears soon associated the scene of food with the gong, and then men encouraged them by tossing offerings from the dinner table. Now upwards of a dozen bears are prompt arrivals at meal time.

SPANG PICTURES ON WAY HERE

Art treasures willed by the late Rosalie Spang, 87, who disposed of an estate valued at $1,000,000, have been shipped from France and are expected at Carnegie Institute in a few weeks. They will not be unpacked until the arrival from Europe of Homer Saint-Gaudens, director of fine arts of the institute.

It is likely the art objects, a part of Miss Spang's estate in Nice, France, probably will be placed in Carnegie Museum. There are several portraits by Sully, but what disposition will be made of the paintings has not been decided.

3 BANK BANDITS TRAILED IN CAR

LAPORTE, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Their trail of flight marked by bullets, three youthful bandits remained at large today after their robbery of the First National Bank of Laporte, in which they obtained $660.

Police in several Northeastern Pennsylvania towns believe at least one of the bandits is wounded and hospitals have been asked to communicate immediately with authorities if they receive any applicants for treatment of wounds.

Bullets flew in Shickshinny and Nanticoke as occupants of a car believed to the bank robbers' exchanged fire with police. Some reports said three men were in the car, others placed the number at five.

87 Dry Law Cases Face Court Today

More than 90 men and women were to face Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today to plead guilty and meet immediate judgment of the court, or to refuse to plead and face trial in the fall.

Of the 92 listed, representing 82 cases, all but five are charged with violating the prohibition law. Four are listed for probation violations and one is charged with violating the motor theft act.

FREE HOSPITAL CARE MENACED

Curtailment of the state's hospital appropriation and failure to grant an additional $2,000,000 to the institutions will result in hospitals' refusing free aid to many deserving it, Miss Jessie J. Turnbull, president of the Hospital Conference of Pittsburgh states.

Severely handicapped now, Miss Turnbull said, many hospitals will be ruined if Gov. Pinchot vetoes the present bill rescinding the proposed 24.16 per cent cut and providing an additional $2,000,000 grant. She said:

"We urge Legislature and government not to permit the abatement to take effect. It will force some hospitals to the wall. Not even the strongest can go through 1932 without turning away many who deserve free care."

Wreckage of Train Reveals No Bodies

BELLEFONTAINE, O., July 27.—(AP.)—Fears that several men might have been killed in derailment of 40 freight cars on the Big Four Railroad near here were dissipated last night when workmen completed the task of clearing the wreckage from the tracks. No bodies were found.

Battle for Erk's Seat Holds Interest

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, July 27.—Republican leaders from Allegheny County, spending a tiresome summer in Harrisburg during the special legislative session, are passing time discussing a probable vigorous three-cornered contest for Congress in the Thirtieth District, the section north of the Allegheny.

Mark Shields

The Republican candidate is Edmund F. Erk, incumbent. His Democratic opponent is Twing Brooks, of Sewickley. Even in in this year of prophesied upsets the odds are all in favor of Erk, who before going to Congress was for many years secretary to the late Stephen G. Porter, and thus became well acquainted with the district.

But a third candidate is in the field, hardly noted thus for, but potentially in a position to cause an uproar, and even go to Congress himself. He is Joseph C. Trees, millionaire oil man, who was a delegate to the Republican National Convention.

* * *

Trees May Receive Democratic Help

Trees has the Liberal Party nomination. Many of his friends, among them active and influential Republicans, are insisting that he make a real campaign for Congress. They are endeavoring to line up behind him some elements of the Republican organization which are so effective and cohesive in their work in North Side wards.

In addition to this sought-for Republican support, Trees may get some Democratic help. He is a business partner of M. E. Benedum, who in Chicago in June was extremely active in behalf of the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Benedum was in close association with Joseph F. Guffey and Democratic County Chairman David L. Lawrence.

The Democratic organization in the North Boroughs is closely controlled by Lawrence, and should Benedum request, might be turned to the support of Trees. Because of Trees' connections it is probable he could obtain adequate financing for a campaign, making the Thirtieth one of the few districts in the state in which there would be any substantial money available for a political campaign.

Steedle's Speakership Boom Is Gaining

The boom of Representative Joseph G. Steedle, of Allegheny County, for Speaker of the House in the next regular session is attaining some substance. Allegheny County has not had a Speaker since the days of George E. Alter, though in the last two sessions it has bobbed up with a candidate in the person of James H. McClure. This adventure, however, has never been vigorously pushed.

Steedle has more to his advantage than had McClure. First, he has the solid and enthusiastic support of the Allegheny County delegation. Second, he has friendly relations with the strong Philadelphia bloc, not only through his own friendships there, but through the growing amity between Philadelphia and Senator James J. Coyne, Steedle's firm friend.

As chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee Steedle has brought himself to the attention of the House and has made friends. He has shown a greater development of legislative breadth in the past two years than any other member of the body, a fact which is being favorably commented upon, and which is adding to his prestige as a speakership candidate.

* * *

Makes No Secret Of Organization Tie

Steedle is an organization man, a member of the Coyne-Kline group, and an adherent of Miles Bryan. He makes no effort to conceal that relationship, and is not given to subterfuge and insincerity in his attitude toward government.

His affiliations do not make him acceptable to all the civic bodies of Pittsburgh, especially as it is remembered he exerted much influence to defeat the permissive city manager bill in the last regular session. To hospitals and charitable organizations, however, he is understood to have been uniformly fair in dealing with their requested appropriations.

His conception of public responsibility has nothing to do with the unquestioned fact that he has marched forward as a legislator able to get things accomplished as he views the legislative scene. He is a good debater, a type sadly lacking in House; he has a gift for suavity, for conciliation, and for hard fighting.

All of which sounds like I might be the McKees Rocks doctor's press agent, in spite of the way he diatribed Pittsburgh newspapermen on the floor of the House last session. I'm not, and on most legislative questions we disagree heartily and irreconcilably—which may be unimportant—but that should not and cannot detract from the fact that Steedle has reached a place of commanding influence in the House by the force of his own capacity.

BABIES AVOIDING SUMMER ILLS AT CLINICS

Child Health Group Teaching Mothers Proper Care

Pittsburgh babies are getting a break this summer—at least the infants whose mothers are taking the advice of nurses and doctors who conduct the 19 weekly clinics of the Division of Child Health of the Public Health Nursing Association.

Gone are the days when babies had to look forward to "summer complaints" and rashes and all those things that make them cry.

The babies who live near Kingsley House, for instance, can enjoy the summer sunshine without those "summer complaints," because their mothers are instructed in "how to keep a well baby well."

Miss Laura Harstad, supervisor of the clinics, gives practical pointers on how to keep baby healthy during hot weather. Many of these rules apply for winter, also:

"Cook all foods the baby eats except orange juice.

"Feed the baby regularly and not at all between appointed eating times.

"Keep the bottles clean and and give the baby plenty of water to drink.

"Don't let him sleep or sit in a draft.

"Let him wear as little as possible and no woolens.

Bathe him twice each day.

"Don't let flies touch him.

"Sun baths are fine, but must be given only a minute at a time at first and the time only gradually increased."

More than 5,000 babies are registered at the clinics.

Hotel Stair Fall Results in Death

A fall down a flight of stairs at a hotel at 1132 Penn avenue, resulted in the death of Thomas Thornton, 65, of 5226 Holmes street, in West Penn Hospital early today. Thornton suffered a fracture of the skull.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 27.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

You remember during the war when we would read that the Liberty Bond issue had been oversubscribed? Well, the other day Congress voted to loan folks something like two billion dollars. Well, you talk about a thing being "oversubscribed." The whole issue was spoken for before sundown. I honestly believe they could have loaned twice that much, and they perhaps will when they meet again, for that was the "loaningest" and "appropriationist" Congress that ever was. Be a good joke on 'em, if after loaning all that money, they then go home and get beat, had all their "loaning" for nothing. The coming election has already cost the taxpayers billions of dollars.

Yours,
WILL.

2 Gold Star Mothers Sail to Visit Graves

MRS. ELIZABETH ANDERSON . . . SAILING FOR FRANCE

Mrs. Anderson, 67, of 2000 State street, Tarentum, and Mrs. Mary S. Johnston, 54, of R. D. 2, Sarver, Pa., starting across the Atlantic today to visit the graves of their sons, Harry W. Anderson, James C. Johnston, killed within three days of each other, in the Oisne-Aisne American Cemetery. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

Sons Killed Shortly Before Armistice Ended War

Two Gold Star mothers from the Pittsburgh district, whose sons were killed within three days of each other, three months before the Armistice was signed, are to sail today on the American Importer to visit the graves of their boys in the Oise-Aisne American Cemetery, France. They are Mrs. Mary S. Johnston, 54, of R. D. No. 2, Sarver, and Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, 67, of 2000 State street, Tarentum.

Mrs. Johnston, mother of four children, lost her son, James Carl, 19, who was killed on August 11, 1918. He enlisted April 18, 1917, prepared at Ridgeway and Schenley Oval and sailed in May. His mother said:

"I miss him just as much today as the day he went away."

Mrs. Anderson, mother of nine boys and three girls, lost her son, Harry W., 18, on August 14, 1918. Harry was in Company B, 111th Infantry. His brother, Robert, is now in the 12th Coast Artillery at Fortress Monroe, Virginia, having enlisted on August 14, 1929, 11 years from the day Harry was killed. In spite of her age, Mrs. Anderson is very active about the house. She likes to sew. She said:

"An apron never comes amiss."

Hunted Bandits Rob Another Gas Station

Three men believed by police to be the bandits who stole a taxicab and terrorized gasoline stations while radio cars were in pursuit early yesterday, early today held up the Standard Auto Service Station at Manchester boulevard and Galveston street and escaped with $47. Clifford Lynch, of 507 Fontella street, reported the stickup to police.

The service station was the scene of a holdup several weeks ago, during which the bandits battled with a Negro policeman.

WEST VIEW'S COUNCILMEN QUIZZED

Special Audit Into Shortage Refused By Body

A score of questions, prying deep into the financial affairs of West View, were to be submitted to the borough council today by the newly organized Citizens' Civic League following a stormy Council session last night.

The questions came last night after the Council has turned down by a vote of 5 to 2 a request of Earl Jones, chairman of the investigation committee of the league, to have a special audit looking into the $9,854.34 shortage of the late borough treasurer, Harry J. Wagner, Jr., who died in his garage of carbon monoxide poisoning.

FINAL ACTION DELAYED

Council met last night to consider an audit conducted by the borough auditors for 1931, which was filed in the county courts July 19. They adjourned without taking final action.

The borough auditor, Harry Kerr, was questioned at length concerning articles in his report by Councilman Fred McCune. Early in the session McCune's motion for an outside audit was defeated, 5 to 2.

In the shortage $5,000 was a Liberty bond, which was credited to the borough sinking fund. The remainder of the deficit was from the general fund.

Kerr said he did not know the number of the bond, but had seen it in Wagner's home.

BANK CLOSING HANDICAP

Kerr said his audit had been hampered by the closing of the Citizens' Bank of Bellevue, the borough depository. He had arranged a meeting with George Taylor, deputy state bank examiner, next Saturday. From this meeting Kerr said he hoped to obtain information that would assist him in tracing the missing bond.

Question of Burgess D. A. Atkinson concerning the borough treasurer's right to dip into the sinking fund brought a resolution by Council to revise the financial procedure of borough finances.

After a motion had been made to adjourn the meeting, Jones from the crowded audience asked Council to authorize an audit by uninterested auditors. This was rejected 5 to 2.

FEARS PUBLIC BURDEN

Councilman Robert Hunt said of the suggestion:

"When we find that our own borough auditor's report is lacking conviction, we will then willingly call professional auditors. To do it now would burden the taxpayers."

Jones then submitted a score of questions pertaining to the financial administration of the borough. Council, asking for a copy of them, said they would answer them at the next meeting, Tuesday, August 9.

Potters Discussing Wages, Competition

ALLIANCE, O., July 27.—Wage proposals drafted by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and inroads of foreign-made ware were discussed at a meeting of the United States Potters' Association, in session here today. The time and place for a conference with the operative potters to fix a wage agreement for two years, affecting 7,500 skilled potters, was to be set.

Girl, 14, Wins Laurels As Jockey in Races

EVELYN THOMPSON . . . FIRST GIRL JOCKEY IN RUNNING MEET

The 14-year-old granddaughter of J. V. Thompson, Fayette County coal baron and financier, who won her spurs in competition with veteran riders at the Waynesburg fair. She rode her own horse, "Sonny Boy," winning crowd's plaudits for horsemanship.

J. V. Thompson's Kin Gives Waynesburg Throngs Thrill

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 27.—Pitting her prowess as a jockey against veteran male drivers, Evelyn Thompson, 14, granddaughter of J. V. Thompson, once rated as Fayette County's richest man, won the applause of the crowd at the running races staged on the Waynesburg Fairgrounds. It was her first appearance as a jockey in a running race.

It was not a mere "stunt" ride, and the horse-wise crowd of Greene County race fans was quick to see her ability. Previously she had ridden in society shows at Greensburg, Baltimore and Warrenton, Va.

In her first race she got away to a slow start and finished fifth, but in her second, she led the field most of the way and nosed out in a driving finish which brought the crowd to its feet.

Miss Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A. Thompson, of Uniontown, rode her own horse, Sonny Boy, in the running race meet staged here Saturday.

Her brother, Mark, 8, was the youngest jockey in a pony race on his mount, Betty.

Offers to Forego Suicide If Given Insurance Loan

HARTFORD, Conn., July 27.—(INS.)—It was an astonishing though ingenious bargain for his life which officials of an insurance company disclosed today a policy holder made to them.

The man wrote he planned suicide because of financial reverses.

He proposed to go on living if the company would lend him a third of the face value of the policy, which was not long enough in force to entitle him to such a loan without other security.

The company declined the offer on legal grounds.

DRIVER BEATEN BY POLICEMAN

His face covered with bandages which hid the wounds inflicted by a policeman's mace, Neal Constable, 28, of 517 Larimer avenue, explained in Central Police Court he had been drinking when he argued with Patrolman Harry Levine early today.

Levine testified he arrested Constable and his companion, Olive Rider, 25, of 1901 St. Ives street, after Constable's car bumped into a street car at Ninth street and Penn avenue. Constable not only refused to show his driver's license, but tried to attack him, the policeman said. And he added that Miss Rider tried to interfere.

Miss Rider and Constable, after a night in jail, were each fined $10 and Constable was turned over to Traffic Court.

BLONDE DENIES ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE

Three Others Held in Connection With Blaze in Wall

Release of Pauline Alifinoff, 25, blonde, charged with arson by county detectives, was to be sought today through habeas corpus proceedings, her attorney, David M. Janavitz, announced.

Three others arrested on complaint of Fire Marshal Thomas L. Pfarr were being held in jail in connection with a Wall fire.

Pfarr today said he had no charge against the Alifinoff woman and would not oppose her release.

One of the others arrested, Mary Duback, was charged with arson after she had been released by county detectives. Pfarr said she, Mrs. Bessie Lisko, Pitcairn, and her brother, Peter Dubric, of Wall, were held for court last night by Justice Harry Briggs, of Wilmerding.

County Detective Joseph Bodner and Special Investigator Peter Connors said Miss Alifinoff attempted to escape while being taken to the Bertillon Bureau after her arrest on a charge of being implicated in a fire a month ago in Harrison Township. She denies trying to escape and is held pending a hearing before Alderman T. M. Geary Friday.

HELD FOR SALE OF JOBS AT $25

Henry Pickens, Wylie avenue Negro, was retailing jobs at $25, but most of his prospective customers didn't have the money, it was testified in Police Court today. Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held him for court, charged with false pretense.

Melvin Easley, Negro, of 7539 Bennett street, said he paid Pickens $25 for a job as watchman at the City Night Club. Payment, he testified, was made in the Sheriff's office, when, according to Pickens, one of Mayor Kline's friends failed to show up for the job.

Two other men testified Pickens had offered them jobs, but they didn't have the money to pay for them.

Man's Body Found Near Point Bridge

Edward Miller and David Long, employes of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, found the body of M. B. Black, 55, of 6344 Aurelia street, in the Monongahela River today near Point Bridge. Mrs. Carlter Weaver, of the rooming house where Black had lived, said he had been away since Monday. She said Black had been in the real estate business and left to "close a big deal."

Two Here Receive U. S. Tax Refunds

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS.)—Adjustments of taxes on the estates of the following announced today included:

Belle C. Kaufmann, of Pittsburgh, $62,520; A. C. Opperman, of Pittsburgh, $32,221.

Butterfly Net Needed to Collect Borah's Thoughts

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

That man Borah must collect his thoughts with a butterfly net.

He's leaving footprints on the sands of time but they've got round heels.

He is asking for a conference to talk over debts which he claims don't exist. He wants to help the farmer by putting his foot on the hay scales. He insists on reducing foreign armies and navies 50 per cent, which is like putting your head in the neighbor's window to criticise a dinner to which you haven't been invited.

He has grander schemes than a sophomore fibbing to a pretty girl at a summer resort. He is in the Polish corridor, the Soviet vestibule, the Lausanne hallway and the insurgent ally. He's doing more expert juggling than a cross-eyed mandarin trying to eat huckleberries with chopsticks.

He says he will take us around the corner. But we'd rather stay where we are than make the trip on two wheels.

And as to his international conference, something buzzes us that it would be more economic for us if they didn't hold it.

HERE'S HOW TO KEEP THE BABY HEALTHY AND HAPPY THESE WARM DAYS

Little Lois Miltner on the scales as Miss Wilma Battles checks her weight, finds she's "doing fine." Johnny Lippiello gets into the tub for one of the two baths he gets every day, good for his health. Dolores Mathese is wearing the "very latest" in summer fashions for baby. She's cool. Joseph Fanelli suffers for art's sake at Kingsley. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

JOBLESS STORM OHIO JAIL

LORAIN, O., July 27.—(AP.)—Milling about the city jail, nearly 400 unemployed citizens made an attempt last night to release their leader from arrest, and were driven off when the police resorted to clubbing. Several of the unemployed were injured.

Maurice Stamm, 25, of Lorain, was held in custody as was the previously-arrested leader, Leon Collow, of Cleveland.

The trouble began when City Council refused to admit Collow to a hearing on the distribution of relief to the city's poor.

When police intercepted the jobless leader and took him to jail, the crowd demanded council obtain his release. Their demand refused, they shouted:

"We'll take him from them!"

2 RAIDED, BAIL EACH OTHER

Two confectionery proprietors, raided by county detectives today, failed to locate their bondsmen until they met at Alderman Thomas M. Geary's office, each charged with maintaining slot machines.

Anthony Golenebiewski, 50, of 110 Forty-third street, asked permission to telephone Stanley Szwarc, 156 Forty-first street, who would, Golenebiewski said, furnish his bond. But Szwarc had also been raided. They met at Geary's office, furnished $2,500 bonds for each other. Szwarc also was acused of violating the Snyder act.

Also raided was Henry Dlugokaccecki, 40, confectionery operator of 186 Forty-third street. Detectives says he had two slot machines in his shop.

SUBWAY BEFORE TRAFFIC MEN

A report on the downtown subway and proposed improvements in traffic regulations and warnings will be presented to the Better Traffic Committee at its meeting in the Council Chamber at 1:30 p. m., tomorrow.

Changes in parking regulations on Parkman avenue, Carson street, Federal street, Herron avenue, Diamond street, North Side, Forbes street, Brady street and Boulevard of the Allies. New type stop signals for through traffic streets will be on display.

Priest Suspended Over Auto Death

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 27.—(AP.)—The Rev. Zenon Leonsnopcynski, pastor of St. Mary's Polish National Catholic Church, who faces manslaughter charges in the death of a woman killed by his automobile, was suspended from his pulpit last night by Bishop Francis Nonczak, who said:

"A pastor who in some way causes death cannot officiate at an altar until he has been vindicated in the eyes of the law. In the event of conviction, expulsion from the church must follow."

Brother of Fox Yields to Charges

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Aaron Fox, brother of William Fox, former head of the Fox Film Company, surrendered at the District Attorney's office today under an indictment found last March charging him with abandonment of his two destitute children.

Aaron Fox, who has been a patient in a Hartford (Conn.) sanitarium, since last October, was formerly treasurer and vice president of the Fox Film Company.

VERONA VOTES DEBT INCREASE

Voters of Verona by 422 to 38 yesterday sanctioned increasing of the bonded indebtedness of the borough by $200,000 to refund existing indebtedness.

The last assessed property valuation in the borough, taxable for borough purposes, amounted to $3,637,850, and the total of the existing debt funded and floating, $221,242.

The percentage of the sanctioned increase of the bonded indebtedness, computed on the last assessed valuation of property, is 5.4978 per cent.

Steel Man's Death Held Accidental

ERIE, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Coroner W. G. Stroble today returned a verdict af accidental death in the fatal shooting of James R. Fitz Simons, 58, wealthy president of a Cleveland (O.) real estate firm and official of the Fitzgerald Steel Company, Youngstown, O., at his North Springfield estate yesterday.

Fitz Simons shot himself to death accidentally when he stumbled while shooting at crows, the Coroner stated.

First Woman P. R. R. Telegrapher Dies

YORK, Pa., July 27.—(INS.)—Mrs. Mary Cox Busser, the Pennsylvania Railroad's first woman telegrapher, was dead today at the age of 88.

She became operator for the Pennsylvania in 1864, taking charge of the key at the local station, and first news of the fall of Richmond to the Union forces came over her wire. She recently presented the original telegram to the York County Historical Society.

Cafe Owner Given 4 Months in Jail

Harry Keys, Negro, arrested in a raid on the Orange Blossom Cafe, 78 Fullerton street, today pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition laws and was sentenced to four months in jail.

Harry Hill, who pleaded guilty to violations at the Show Boat, Wylie avenue, was sentenced to a day in jail by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson.

Freight Wreck Ties Up P. R. R. Main Line

TRENTON, N. J., July 27.—(INS.)—A spectacular wreck of a fast freight train tied up all five tracks of the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Millham Junction, northeast of Trenton, early today. Twenty-one cars of a string of 35 were derailed and scattered over the right-of-way. No one was injured.

3 Sisters Chased By Bull, One Drowns

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah, July 27.—(AP.)—Chased by an angry bull, Hazel Hendrickson, 19, leaped into the Bear River, near here, and drowned. Two sisters, who also sought refuge in the stream, found a shallower spot and remained there until a fourth sister outmaneuvered the bull and rescued them.

Odd Fellows Plan Outing Saturday

The annual picnic for the I. O. O. F. Home for Widows and Orphans of Western Pennsylvania will be held Saturday at West View Park. As a special attraction, the boys' band from the Meadville Orphanage will give two concerts. Another feature will be a baseball game between boys from the Pittsburgh Home and the Meadville Home.

$375,000 TAX REFUND WON

The Diamond Alkali Company today won a refund of $375,000 from the United States by a decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The decision reversed that of Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, which had awarded the Alkali company $72,000.

The case was argued by John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, for the company; Special Tax Attorney J. A. McCann appearing for the government.

The company's contention was that the tax should have been figured on a supplemental or corrected report covering 1918 and 1919.

3,690 HOUSED AT MAYVIEW

The population of the City Home and Hospital at Mayview has reached the highest point in its history at 3,690, according to Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Department of Welfare.

At times in the last few weeks, the institution has been beyond its capacity, Mrs. Rauh said, and cots have been placed in the business offices. Ground has been broken for a new building for which City Council has voted $40,000, to care for about 1,000 persons.

The building is being erected by city forces using funds conserved from the bonds issued for the general improvement program at the institution.

State Rites Decreed For Ex-King Manuel

LISBON, Portugal, July 27.—(AP.)—The government decreed a state funeral for Former King Manuel, of Portugal, who died in England last week.

The funeral will be held August 2, when the body arrives here and the day will be a national holiday.

This action of the government, unusual to a deposed king, appears to have made an excellent impression upon the Portuguese people.

Injured Stillman To Buy New Plane

GARY, Ind., July 27.—(AP.)—Alexander Stillman, of New York, son of Mrs. Fifi Stillman McCormick, who crashed in his plane near here last Wednesday, left a local hospital yesterday, accompanied by his mother. He continued his trip to the Chicago home of his stepfather, Fowler McCormick. He said he intended to purchase a new plane.

SHRINE CROWDS MAKE MERRY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—(AP.)—The Shrine's pageantry of "national optimism" swept today toward a second day climax, which will weld merriment and business in a "Mardi Gras of Industry."

In the Mardi Gras tonight industries and civic life of San Francisco will be depicted for the nobles of the Mystic Shrine in grotesque and educational floats and figures.

While the majority of the 250,000 visitors to the convention are devoting themselves to the practice of optimism, the imperial council will meet behind closed doors. Earl C. Mills, of Des Moines, Ia., in accordance with custom, is to be elevated to imperial potentate, succeeding Thomas J. Houston, of Chicago.

The question of holding Shrine conventions triennially, instead of annually, also is to be decided today and perhaps the imperial council will decide on the next convention city. Boston, Mass., already has put in a bid.

DEATH ANSWER TO PRAYER

Mrs. E. J. Gillette was believed dying today at her home on the Butler Plank road near the Mt. Royal Station unawares that her 6-year-old son was killed in a railroad accident near Glenshaw.

Robert Rihn

John Gillette, 6, was struck by a mail train on the Baltimore and Ohio tracks yesterday near his home. Robert Rihn, his cousin, with whom he was playing on the tracks suffered the loss of a foot, which was amputated at the Allegheny General Hospital.

Relatives said Mrs. Gillette had prayed she might take her son, John, with her in death. A short time later her son was killed.

DIVORCE GIVEN MRS. BENDIX

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP.)—The old Potter Palmer castle on Lake Shore drive, favorite salon of society in the nineties, was without a hostess today. Mrs. Elizabeth Channon Bendix, whose husband purchased the landmark two years ago, was awarded a default divorce yesterday on a charge of desertion from Vincent Bendix.

The millionaire manufacturer and inventor of automotive and aviation devices did not appear. The proceedings were perfunctory, and the property settlement, reputed to be in the nighborhood of $2,000,000, was not publicly confirmed.

Mrs. Bendix, the daughter of Mrs. James H. Channon, told the court she had lived in Chicago all her life. They were married April 6, 1922, and separated in October, 1930.

GIRL WOUNDED, MAN HELD

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Following a shooting in which a girl was wounded, Paul Jones, 24, of Brady's Bend, is held in jail today.

Ann Morgan, 23, is in a hospital, shot in the side. Her mother, Mrs. Clinda Morgan, told police Miss Morgan and Jones had been friends, but quarreled.

Yesterday she heard a shot. Investigating, she saw Jones flee and found her daughter wounded. Jones was arrested soon after.

Police Use Autogiro To Trail Attacker

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—An autogiro was used yesterday by state police in an effort to find a man who beat Mrs. Abraham Carver, 38, tied her to a chair, and stole $250 from her home.

She was born in Youngstown (O.), and was graduated from the Columbus Deaf and Dumb School. She was on the stage in "A Night in Spain."

CHICAGO NAMED BY WALTHERS

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(AP.)—With the election of officers and selection of the 1933 convention city the International Walther League, except delegates to sectional conferences, forsook the convention hall today for ocean beaches and other places of entertainment.

The convention, which closes officially Thursday, heard managers of various league activities read reports on summer conferences, education, sanitariums and hospices.

Eight entrants in the league's oratorical contest completed delivering their speeches and judges were expected to announce the winner at the close of today's conference.

E. J. Gallmyer, Ft. Wayne (Ind.) postmaster, was re-elected president of the international organization yesterday and Chicago was selected as the 1933 convention city.

Work Loan Checks Newfoundland Riots

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, July 27.—(AP.)—Riots by unemployed, which threw this city into a turmoil yesterday, ceased today after announcement that a syndicate of Canadian banks had agreed to advance a loan of $100,000 to finance a program of municipal street work.

A number of plate glass windows were broken last night and several stores looted.

Jobless Man Shoots Self; Near Death

Alexander Chernatowich, 44, of 5448 Second avenue, was in a critical condition in Montefiore Hospital today from a self-inflicted bullet wound in the stomach, according to police. Chernatowich, despondent over unemployment, shot himself in the bedroom of his home last night, police said.

EMPIRE SCANS U. S. PLANTS

OTTAWA, Ontario, July 27.—(AP.)—The future of more than 100 American branch plants in Canada, representing an investment of about $500,000,000, was in the balance today as an imperial trade conference committee took up the question of "empire content."

"Empire content" is the percentage of empire materials or labor which an article must contain to qualify for customs entry under empire preferential tariff rates.

At present, with certain exceptions in individual instances, the standard of empire content is 50 per cent in Canada and New Zealand, 75 per cent in Australia and 25 per cent in the Irish Free State, the United Kingdom and South Africa.

What the conference may do about a blanket increase in the required percentages or in special restrictions on selected articles is of very real concern to the American branch factories in Canada and to American business interests supplying products to be finished by Dominion or other concerns within the empire.

Clergyman, King's Shipmate, Dead

MASSEY, Ont., July 27.—(AP.)—The Rev. D. J. New, once shipmate of King George, died yesterday, a month after he had taken over the United Church pastorate.

Born in the Isle of Wight, the Rev. Mr. New enlisted in the royal navy as a young man and served on the same ship as the King, who was then Prince George.

Ill Farmer Hangs Himself to Tree

The coroner's office today ascribed ill health as the reason for the suicide of George Bozic, 54, whose body was found hanging from a tree on his farm in Middle road, West Deer Township, last night. The body was found by George McKaskey, a stepson, the coroner's report said.

THE OTHER THREE LEADING BRANDS TO THIS SCIENTIFIC TEST OF CIGARETTE QUALITY

You three old-time cigarette brands are very proud of your cigarettes. You have a right to be! Your cigarettes are mighty good.

Each of you, quite naturally, thinks his cigarette is best. You say: "MY cigarette is Milder!" "It's Fresher!" "Kinder!" And so on.

But don't you think you might give Mr. and Mrs. John K. Smoker a little proof?

OLD GOLD begs to suggest that you have any of the great technical universities test your cigarette against OLD GOLD . . . for heat content . . . using the Calorimeter method approved by scientists throughout the world.

Coolness, as you veterans know, is a clue to cigarette quality. It indicates the choicest, purest tobacco. So how about a little cool test?

Maybe you suspect that we know OLD GOLD will win. We don't deny it. This "cool" test* of 4 leading brands has already been made 75 times . . . and OLD GOLD won consistently.

Old Man Science plays no favorites. It's merit that counts with him. He has found the finer and purer tobacco quality of OLD GOLD, just as he tells the purity of pure gold!

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B. T. U./lb. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B.T.U's. Cooler than Brand Z

UNCLE SAM SEEKS COMEBACK IN SPRINTS

RAY BARBUTI — JACKSON SCHOLZ

Uncle Sam's only winners in the sprints in the Olympic Games of 1924 and 1928. He hopes to do better in the competition at Los Angeles. These are International News Photograph Service pictures.

Note—James J. Long, regular conductor of this column of sports comment, is on vacation. During his two weeks' absence, Harry Keck, sports editor, will pinch-hit in his place.

THIS WEEK MARKS the beginning of the tenth Modern Olympic Games carnival, at Los Angeles, with nations from all over the civilized world competing. The first events of the summer program will be decided next Saturday and the contests will spread over a period of 16 days.

Hence this column today on the Olympics.

To use the word Olympiad to describe the games is erroneous, although common usage probably justifies the breach. The word originally was used as a measure of time, designating the four years intervening between each set of games.

THE FIRST OLYMPICS were held in Olympia, Greece, in 776 B. C., and were part of a five days' festival in the shadows of Mount Olympus, sacred to the Greeks of that period. The victor in each event was awarded a laurel wreath. Originally the program included not only athletic contests, but also music, poetry, art and oratory. For many years the Greeks alone competed in these games, but eventually the Romans also joined in, and the breakup came when the Greeks charged the Romans with professionalizing the sports by going on tours and collecting financial rewards. Rioting and pillage broke out, with the Romans sacking and burning buildings and putting an end to the competition.

Not until 1896 were the Olympic Games revived, at the instance of Baron de Coubertin, of France, with the carnival being staged in Athens. They have been held every four years since, with the exceptions of an extra set of games staged in 1906 at Athens, and a break in 1916, due to the World War. The United States has won the team championship each time, but, beginning with this year, there will be no national champion, the honors being confined to individuals, the idea being to promote world harmony by eliminating bickering in so far as possible. The games have not been without their share of strife.

ONLY ONCE BEFORE have the Olympics been staged in the United States. That was in 1904, at St. Louis, and it is unlikely that they will be held again in this country during the present generation, nations from all over the world having made bids for the honor of playing host. Following the 1896 games at Athens, they were held in Paris, in 1900; St. Louis, 1904; Athens, 1906; London, 1908; Stockholm, 1912; Antwerp, 1920; Paris, 1924, and Amsterdam, 1928.

THE UNITED STATES Olympic Committee expended close to $300,000 to send its team to Amsterdam four years ago. Due to the financial situation, this year's overhead for the squad has been considerably reduced, but the cost of promoting the competition at Los Angeles will be tremendous.

MUCH GLAMOROUS HISTORY has been written in the Olympic Games since Baron de Coubertin succeeded in bringing about his revival. The track and field games have provided the most colorful chapters, with the classic Marathon race an outstanding event. Only twice has the United States won this strenuous test over the full distance of 26 miles, 385 yards, in 19[illegible] at home, when T. J. Hicks was the winner in the slow time of 3 hours 28 minutes 53 seconds, and, in 1908, when Johnny Hayes, of New York, sprang his thrilling upset in London, leading the pack behind Dorando, the Italian, who collapsed and was aided across the finish line to be disqualified. The record time for the Marathon was set by Hannes Kolehmainen, of New York, a transplanted Finn, running for his homeland at Antwerp in 1920. He finished in 2 hours 32 minutes 35 4-5 seconds. Last year's winner, El Ouafi, of France, ran within less than a half-minute of this time. Eight years before he won the Marathon, Kolehmainen captured the cross-country run of the Olympic Games.

The Finns always have shown marked superiority in the distance runs, while the United States has been a keen disappointment in the shorter races in the last two meets, winning only the 100 and 200 meters with Jackson Scholz in 1924 and the 400 meters with Ray Barbuti in 1928. This after Uncle Sam had won the 60 meters the only times it was run, in 1900 and 1904; the 100 meters each time up to and including 1920 with the exception of 1908, the 200 meters each time with the exception of 1908 and the 400 meters five times in the first seven Modern Olympics. A strong comeback in this department is looked for at Los Angeles.

A HIGHLIGHT OF the games was the disqualification of Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian football star, after he had cleaned up in the 1912 meet. A charge that he had signed a contract to play in Organized Baseball resulted in his forfeiture of all of his titles and the erasure of his name from the records.

GREAT NAMES DOT the scrolls of Olympic winners. There was the late Alva Kraenzlein, who won four events for the United States in 1900, the 60 meters dash, 110 meters hurdles, 200 meters hurdles and running broad jump. Also Archie Hahn, Ted Meredith, Allan Woodring, Jackson Scholz, Hannes Kolehmainen, Paavo Nurmi, Gordon Lowe, Willie Ritola, Johnny Hayes, Ralph Craig, Percy Williams, who won both the 100 and 200 meters for Canada in 1928 as a "dark horse," Ray Barbuti, Earl Thomson, Charley Paddock, H. M. Abrams, Frank Loomis, Lord Burghley, George Bonhag, Ugo Frigerio, G. H. Goulding, R. C. Ewry, Platt Adams, Harold Osborn, Ed Hamm, Ralph Rose, Martin Sheridan, Pat McDonald, Bud Houser, Johnny Kuck, Matt McGrath, Pat Ryan, Johnny Myyra and E. R. Lehtonen.

Next to the track and field events the swimming competition has proved most interesting across the years. A parade of former champions brings before us the names of such stars as Johnny Weissmuller, Duke Kahanamoku, Charley Daniels, Norman Ross, Albert Zorilla, Arne Borg, A. M. Charlton, Harry Hebner, Warren Kealoha, George Kojac and Paul Desjardins among the men, and Ethelda Bleibtrey, Ethel Lackie, Albina Osipowich, Martha Norelius, Sybil Bauer, Marie Braun, Aileen Riggin, Elizabeth Becker, Elizabeth Pinkston, Eleanor Garatti and Helen Meany among the women.

Tonight's boxing show, featuring Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, former welterweight champion of the world, and Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, at Greenlee Field, will be the last in Pittsburgh before a new deal in the allotment of dates, due to the withdrawal of the Meyers Bowl from the scene.

Tommy Freeman

The Bowl, through Apples Meyers, the promoter, today took down its professional license and bond and announced it was through with the expensive business of staging professional shows for the season, following a series of losing ventures and a reorganization which lasted for one show, last Monday night, after a series of lost dates. For the remainder of the season the Bowl will be rented out for amateur shows sponsored by American Legion posts and similar organizations.

MILLVALE GETS MONDAYS

Announcement was made by Havey J. Boyle, boxing commissioner, that, as a result of the withdrawal of the Bowl, Monday night, a preferred date, will become the property of the Hickey Park arena, in Millvale, beginning next week. Greenlee Field, which has been operating on Wednesdays, will get Hickey Park's regular night, Thursday.

In accordance with the new program, Manager John L. Hernon, of Hickey Park, today announced postponement of his Jack King-Billy Holt show from tomorrow night until next Monday.

The cutting down of the field of promoters may give both surviving clubs a chance to get back some of the money they have lost.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE HOTEL BUILT ON A GLACIER—Although the region in and around Rocky Mountain National Park is famous for glacial activity, it was not known that the hotel "Boulderfield Shelter" was constructed on a glacier until excavations were made for the outbuildings. The builders of the National Park Service then found that the site was a crust of glacial soil and rock overlaying the glacier beneath. The hotel, situated just below the summit of Long's Peak, at an altitude of 12,700 feet, is only 20 feet square, yet at times it houses mountain-climbing parties of 30 or more, and on one occasion 38 camp girls were accommodated overnight. It is operated under the supervision of the Park Service of Rocky Mountain Park, Estes Park, Col.

GIBSON'S TEAM SHOW FIGHT ON ROAD

NEW YORK, July 27.—A remarkable fighting spirit which has elicited admiration from fans all over the National League as well as from rival players is the dominating force in the play of the Pittsburgh Pirates as they carry on in the present great flag fight.

The pure aggressiveness which has characterized the performances of the youthful club since the very day the season opened in mid-April has carried the Buccos over two very high hurdles in the past three days.

COME FROM BEHIND

George Gibson's hustlers took it on the button in the first battle with the Cubs in a Chicago doubleheader of Sunday. The Bruins, after clawing the Freebooters in the opener, proceeded to pile up five markers in the nightcap. The immediate outlook for the Pittsburghers was dark, in that a loss of two contests in one day is a staggering blow to a first-place team. But Gibby exhorted his boys and they came up from behind like true champions to break even on the day's play.

At the Polo Grounds yesterday the Giants smeared the Pirates in the inaugural and they jumped out in front with a two-run lead in the nightcap. Did the kids and veterans from Forbes Field go into a trance as a result of the adversity? Not that any of the patrons of the Giants could notice; rather they got up off the floor and felled the home guards in the tenth round. The score of the Pirate success was 7 to 5.

Now if the Pirates had resigned themselves to double setbacks on the two days mentioned, their pennant lead would be jeopardized, but they decided to throw everything they had in their bag of tricks and as a result finished even in the gruelling competition of the two days.

HUBBELL CHECKS BUCS

The Giants jumped on Larry French rather early to land the first game of yesterday. French's support was none too good and Carl Hubbell was clever enough to keep the Pirate hits well scattered. The score of the New York triumph was 7 to 3. The Pirates left no less than 13 runners on the sacks.

Ervin Brame failed the fool the Giants in the second encounter. The home batters reached him for four runs in four innings before Leo Chagnon went to the scene to turn in a fine relief job. The Pirates scored twice in the second and made three to take the lead in the sixth. The Giants deadlocked in the eighth and neither side scored in the ninth.

WIN IN TENTH

Pie Traynor singled in the tenth with one out, but he was nailed at the plate on Comorosky's double. Two passes filled the bases and relief pitcher Schumacher had two balls and no strikes on Earl Grace when Gibson rushed to the scene, Grace, batting for Tommy Padden, singled to score Comorosky and Suhr and Chagnon blanked the Giants in the last half of the inning.

Comorosky was the big hero of the dual fight with eight hits in nine times at bat. Included in his field day's string were a homer and two doubles.

The even break in the bargain bill kept the Pirate lead over the Cubs to four full games. The Bruins won as they jumped off in Boston against the Braves.

INDIANS PLAN GALA CARD

CLEVELAND, July 27.—(AP.)—Suffering a violent attack of "baseball fever," Cleveland fans today saw "visions" of—

Gov. George White pitching the first ball in the Indians' opening game at the $2,500,000 Municipal Stadium, Sunday.

Mayor Ray T. Miller wearing the big mitt behind the bat.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis deciding whether the Governor's throw was a ball or a strike.

President William Harridge, of the American League, doing a short act of umpiring at first base, and President John A. Heydler, of the National League, doing an equally short umpiring act at third.

Quite possibly the fans were only having a "pipe dream," but at that, their hope was possible, and an organized movement to effect it was under way. All of the five prominent men are officially expected to attend the Stadium opener between the Indians and the champion Philadelphia Athletics.

Veteran Net Star Wins at Jeannette

JEANNETTE, Pa., July 27.—Harry Garman, well known local tennis star, who has been competing in county tournaments for the past 20 years, won his first round match in the Westmoreland County tennis tournament at the McKee courts yesterday, defeating Bert Rylander, of Manor, 6-2 and 6-3. The summary:

John Blumberg, Penn, defeated Kenneth Everett, Jeannette, 2-6, 6-2, 6-2; Dave Shupe, Greensburg, defeated Wesley Henry, Jeannette, 6-0, 6-3; Tom Lynch, Greensburg, defeated Pete Lamprolos, Latrobe, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3; Wilbur Hockensmith, Irwin, defeated H Smith, Greensburg, 6-2, 6-2; William Speigel, Greensburg, defeated Paul Saylor, Jeannette, 6-3, 2-6, 9-7.

Willie Davies Wins Over Babe Triscaro

CLEVELAND, July 27.—(AP.)—Though he floored Willie Davies, of Charleroi, Pa., last night in the first round for the count of nine, Babe Triscaro, Cleveland, lost his first fight in 15 starts.

Triscaro appeared too finely trained, and after the first round Davies became more aggressive and battled his way to a favorable decision for himself in the six-round bout.

UMPS SUGGEST RULE CHANGES

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Some of the results of a conclave of National League umpires and President Heydler, during which knotty problems were discussed and rules interpreted, have been made known in a league communique.

The umpires expressed the general opinion that there had been few instances so far this season of pitchers deliberately throwing at batters' heads, and that a warning was sufficient each time to stop any leaning toward the "bean" ball.

The officials suggested that the massive shinguards of catchers be greatly reduced in size to discourage blocking off the plate, pointing out that foul tips rarely strike a catcher's legs and that the heavy armor now worn has been developed chiefly for the illegal purpose of defending the plate against a runner.

A general interpretation of one phase of the rule allowing a runner to advance two bases on an overthrow into a stand or dugout was agreed upon.

GERMAN PRO TOPS RICHARDS

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP.)—Roman Najuch, one of the two German stars in the tournament, yesterday, accounted for the first big upset by defeating Vincent Richards, former titleholder, in the quarter-final round of the United States Professional Tennis championships at the South Shore Country Club.

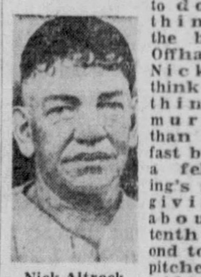
The German drove Richards into back court and blasted out a 7-5, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3 victory Najuch will meet the winner of the Bruce Barnes-Hans Nusslein match in the semi-finals Saturday.

Betting Bill Passes Indiana Assembly

INDIANAPOLIS, July 27.—(AP.)—A bill to legalize parimutuel betting in Indiana was passed, 54 to 32, by the House of the General Assembly yesterday.

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—One of the best symptoms of the season is that the higher-ups are going to do something about the bean ball. Offhand, Uncle Nick can't think of anything more murderistic than aiming a fast baseball at a fellow being's skull and giving him about one-tenth of a second to duck. A pitcher that will do that intentionally would put ground glass in babies' porridge and also poison wells.



Nick Altrock

In fact, I'd place a bean-ball pitcher alongside the meanest man in the world. That was the guy that put a tack on the seat of the electric chair.

If there's going to be any more dusting off this season, let's leave it to the chambermaids.

U. S. TO FACE STERN OPPOSITION IN OLYMPIC DUELS

GERMAN SPRINT STARS AP PEAR FORMIDABLE

By LAWSON ROBERTSON,
Head Coach American Olympic Team.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 27.—The following question often is fired at me:

"Who will furnish the stiffest opposition to the American's in the Olympic track and field events?"

I cannot make answer upon actual knowledge of most of the men that will be in action, but upon what I have read about each. In the 100 and the 200 meters, I think our chief menace will be Arthur Jonath, of Germany. He has stepped the 100 in 10.3, which equals Eddie Tolan's mark. Another threat is Kornig, of Germany, who has run even faster, 10.2, but German experts regard as not so consistently good as the rugged and fast striding Jonath.

Jonath and Borchmeyer, of Germany, who has done 21.4, will furnish plenty of competition in the 200.

GOLDING UNDEFEATED

Golding, of Australia, with a mark of .48 and an unbeaten record; Rampling, of England; Stonely the "Mystery Man of England," and Metzner, of Germany, are our chief rivals at 400 meters.

Tom Hampson, of England is regarded by many as a sure thing in the 800. Martin, of Switzerland, Peltzer, of Germany, both of them veterans and Keller, of France, perhaps the best man in his country, will make it very difficult to crowd into the topnotch places in the 800.

We will find contention from many nations in the 1,500 meters. Finland is liable to give us stiffest battle. They have Larva, winner of the 1928 event, and Purje, who ran third. England has Thomas, with a mark of 3:54, and New Zealand has a speedster in Lovelock. Edwards, of Canada; Keller, of France, and Peltzer, of Germany also are dangerous.

In the 3,000 meters steeplechase, it is Joe McCluskey, of the United States, against a band of Great Finns. Luokola is best and was the 1928 Olympic champion.

No chance for us in the 5,000 meters or the 10,000 meters run and I cannot see us getting any important positions in the 50,000 meters walk. If Nurmi goes in the marathon, he is likely to win.

LORD BURGHLEY GOOD

The 110-meter hurdles is at our mercy—with nothing close. The 400 meters hurdle, however, is something different. The English have a great man in Lord Burghley, winner in 1928. I hear he is slightly off form, but he can be that, and still have enough class to beat our best.

The hammer throw title seems to belong to Dr. Pat O'Callaghan, of Ireland. He won it in 1928 and has improved greatly since then.

The javelin is something where we simply will not figure. Matti Jarvinen, of Finland, who has thrown 248 feet, can toss farther without taking off his overcoat than any of our boys can do stripped down.

The pole vault is ours — with no one close. I think the same thing is true of the high jump. The discus is a wide open contest. Anderson, of the U. S. A., is a star. Remecz, of Hungary, is another. Hirschfeld, of Germany, Douda of Czecho-Slovakia and Harry Hart, of South Africa, also are good.

SEXTON HAS RIVALS

The shotput in another event where the winner might turn up in any of a half dozen starters. Leo Sexton is our best. Hart, the South African, has bettered his best mark by seven inches. Nambu, of Japan, is likely to win both the running broad jump and the hop-step-jump. Silvio Cato, of Haiti, who owns the existing world record, would give him a great battle if in condition.

So it can be seen that, although we are supposed to have one of our greatest teams, the opposition this year is far stiffer than in the past, and we will have a struggle gaining any championships.

Coast to Permit Football Broadcasts

PASADENA, Cal., July 27.—(AP.)—The athletic heads of the colleges of the Pacific Coast Conference have voted to continue the permission of radio broadcasting of football games through 1932, but made no mention of plans for the years to come.

The decision was made at a meeting here in which representatives from the Radio Corporation of America offered to devote a portion of the broadcasting period to advertising of conference gridiron games prior to the dates they are played.

FREEMAN BOXES RANDALL HERE

Greenlee Field has been a heavy loser, while Hickey Park, operating along conservative lines, has not gone deeply into the hole, having fared much better than its rivals, who splurged heavily at the start of the outdoor campaign. The Bowl was a good money-maker for three seasons, but has been unable to get going this year.

CHANCE FOR RANDALL

Although Freeman has won twice here this season, beating Buck McTiernan and knocking out Lee Sala, of Donora, in one round, Randall is conceded a good chance of stemming the tide in their battle tonight. Randall for several years has been one of the best performers in these parts. In his most recent start, in the same ring in which he shows tonight, he knocked out Davy Grove, of the North Side, after the latter had won from Jimmy Belmont and drawn with Paulie Walker, of New York.

Frankie Goosby, Negro welterweight, formerly of California, boxes Lee Sala in the eight-round semi-final tonight. Tommy (Sandy) Campbell, of Weirton, W. Va., meets Max Elling, of the Hill, in the second bout, and Johnny Durso, of the Hill, and Jerry Clements, of Jeannette, are in the opener, at 8:45 o'clock.

Between Rounds

Four of the seven bouts that will make up the amateur boxing card at the St. Peter's A. A. arena on the North Side next Tuesday night have been arranged. The show will be an intercity affair, between Uniontown and Pittsburgh boxers. The bouts booked, with the Uniontown boxers named first, are: Jimmy Asto vs. Johnny Saville, Johnny Giachetti vs. Al Martzo, Johnny Gianetti vs. George Martzo and Charley Hornick vs. Elmer Wilson.

The amateur show scheduled at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., on the North Side, and under the auspices of the Fire Department in New Kensington last night were postponed on account of rain. Weather permitting, they will be put on tonight.

Jackie Wallace, former local amateur boxer, has returned to town from a boxing campaign in the South and is open for bouts with any of the light-heavyweights. He boxed in Louisville and other cities.

Legion Nines Meet For Title Today

Weather permitting, the American Legion junior baseball championship of Western Pennsylvania will be decided at Forbes Field this evening when the Swissvale Legion meets South Hills Legion in the third and deciding battle of their series.

South Hills came from behind at Dormont yesterday to even the series count. The score was 4 to 3. The score by innings:

									R.	H.	E.
Swissvale	0	1	0	0	1	0	1	0	3	8	5
South Hills	0	1	0	0	1	1	0	1	4	7	2

Detroit Catcher Sets New Mark For Defense

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP.)—Three hundred and thirty-seven chances without an error!

That is the achievement of Ray Hayworth, peppery young catcher of the Detroit Tigers, whose performance was hailed today as a major league record for backstops, Henry P. Edwards, statistician for the American League, stamped Hayworth's work as a record after digging into the musty batch of figures.

This season, to date, Hayworth has participated in 67 games and made 260 putouts and 40 assists without a bobble. In the last six games of the 1931 season, he had 34 putouts and three assists for a grand total of 337.

That eclipsed the previous American League record of 284 chances made by Johnny Bassler, also of Detroit, and the National League mark of 325 by Earl Grace, of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

WOMEN LINKS STARS BUSY

By TOM BIRKS

With the women holding one-day affairs at Longue Vue tomorrow and the Pittsburgh Field Club on Friday, and a two-day affair consisting of 36-holes medal play at Culbertson Hills, Edinboro, Pa., fair sex golfers are going to be extremely busy until the week-end.

Miss Katherine McClosky has a heavy entry listed at Longue Vue, and some 200 players will tee off under the jurisdiction of Dave McKay on Friday.

STARS IN TOURNEY

Beginning on Sunday the annual Bedford Springs tournament promises to be the most successful in history. Vincent Eldred, Pennsylvania State Open champion, will head the largest delegation of professionals out of town ever left in search of fame and shekels. Sunday the pros, with their selected amateur partners, will tour the 18 holes of water-trapped greens, preparing for the big joust starting early on Monday, when 36 holes of action will be played for the Bedford Springs championship.

Today the second Alcoma-Wildwood team matches will be played. Alcoma got away to a big lead in the first half.

At Valley Heights, the women will play an inter-club match with the Hill Crest Country Club team.

Three aces were reported in the district yesterday. At Coraopolis Heights, George Kaszer sank his tee shot on the 290-yard No. 6 green. On the same course, on the No. 2 hole, H. A. Brainard holed out in one stroke.

Andrew Leight, a visitor from New York, scored a hole in one at North Park yesterday. He made the shot on the 135-yard No. 4 hole. He was playing with Bernie McFarland, Monty Oneretta and James Dill.

UPSETS MARK NET TOURNEY

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 27.—(AP.)—Three upsets were registered as play progressed through the quarter-final round of women's singles in the Seabright tennis tournament today, only Helen Jacobs, of the favored players, winning her match.

Miss Jacobs easily defeated Mae Cuervorst, of Wichita, Kan., 6-3, 6-1, but Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Los Angeles, fell before Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1; Sarah Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., bowed to Josephine Cruickshank, of Santa Ana, Cal., 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, and Mary Greef, of Kansas City, was eliminated by the sensational California youngster, Caroline Babbock, 6-1, 6-4.

Reunion of Vets Of Diamond Aug. 21

CINCINNATI, July 27.—(AP.)—Stars of yesteryear in big league baseball will don uniforms again here August 21.

The occasion will be the second annual roundup of diamond "old-timers." Nearly 100 attended the first reunion last year.

Among those invited are Honus Wagner, of Pittsburgh; Tris Speaker, Nap Lajoie, Sam Crawford, Cy Young, Chief Bender and scores of others of greater or less fame—and, of course, Nick Altrock, baseball's clown.

The oldtimers will join in a game at the close of the contest between the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds.

Arensberg Wins In Ottawa Tennis

OTTAWA, July 27.—(AP.)—Helen Fulton, young Chicago city champion, today won her way to the fourth round of women's singles in the Canadian tennis championships with a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Beatrice Symons, of Toronto.

Another Toronto favorite, Mrs. J. K. Salmond, was eliminated by Mrs. Esther Bartosh, of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-4.

The Harvard doubles team of Walter Arensberg, of Pittsburgh, and Crum Thompson, of Portland, Ore., entered the fourth round of men's doubles with a 5-7, 6-4, 6-2 victory over E. E. Hepenstall and Earl Pennock, of Ottawa.

Fight Results

At Cleveland—Willie Davies defeated Babe Triscaro, 6 rounds; Jack Decenber defeated Jackie Purvis, 6 rounds; Ross Fields defeated Juan Cruz, 6 rounds; Frankie Brasio defeated Press Johnson, 6 rounds.

At Saginaw, Mich.—Buddy Heinz defeated Harry English, 10 rounds; Mickey Misko defeated Jimmy Collins, 6 rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Al Rodrigues won by a technical knockout over Dutch Leonard, 8 rounds.

At Boston—Leo Larrivee defeated Oddone Piazza, 12 rounds.

EVENTS NOT SANCTIONED

Warning has been issued by the office of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. that the games of the Scottish Clans at Kennywood Park, Saturday of next week, and swimming events being held in the Beaver Valley, have not received A. A. U. sanction and any amateur athletes competing in them are subjecting themselves to suspension.

PUBLIC PARKS NET PLANS REVISED

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Revision of previously published plans for running off the third annual revival of the Pittsburgh public parks tennis championships were announced yesterday after conference of Pittsburgh Tennis Association authorities with Superintendent of City Parks James Moore and his able Frick Park aide, Harvey Crass. Instead of the north and south zone system originally suggested, tournament play will be confined entirely to Frick and Schenley Parks this year, the upper half of the competitive draw being slated for the Frick lot, with the lower section going to Schenley. The final matches in both men's and women's singles will be Frick features.

Entries for the park's affair will close at noon Saturday. Names must be forwarded to the writer, tournament chairman, at 4748 Wallingford street, Pittsburgh. The following eligibility requirements are absolute: First, members of clubs having tennis courts and owners of private courts are excluded from municipal competition; second, each contestant must comply with the regulation of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Parks that a city tennis permit be obtained prior to playing on a public court.

A fee of $1 will be collected from each entrant before his or her initial match.

One match in the boys' division had been completed and other duels were in progress when this morning's heavy downpour soaked the clay courts of the P. A. A. and terminated the opening day's activities in the annual Pittsburgh Central Junior and Boys' tennis championships.

In the boys' group, Francis Cotter defeated Robert McElroy, 6-4, 6-1, and William C. Fay was leading Ralph Henderson, 6-4, 3-2. Robert Burnett, a seeded junior, drew even with Donald Krey by winning the second set at 7-5 after losing the first, 6-3.

Wash.-Jeff. Sports Field Improved

NET TEAMS TO MEET

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 27.—The Washington Tennis Club will be host to Monongahela players here Sunday. Edgewood Club nosed out the locals here last week.

SEALS TO TELL OF OLYMPICS

The Olympic Games, past and present, will be discussed by Herb McGee, WCAE announcer, and Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, as a high spot of the weekly program of the Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE at 7 o'clock this evening. The talk will carry listeners back to the first Olympics, in 776 B. C., and bring them up to the Los Angeles carnival, which gets under way at Los Angeles next Saturday. They'll tell you historical facts about the games such as are not to be found in any record books.

Herb McGee

As a co-feature on the program, the Waynesburg College quartet, consisting of Jerry Nyhan, Malcolm Hayden, Henry McVicker and Preston Berry, will return for a series of numbers. Julius Levin, of the sports staff of the Sun-Telegraph, and Miss Marian Salmon, pianist, also will participate.

EDDIE KENNA SIGNED

DES MOINES, Ia., July 27.—(AP.)—Eddie Kenna, veteran baseball player of the Eastern League, was signed by the Des Moines club of the Western League, today.

Man About Town

The John Considines (Carmen Pantages) are straining at the leash already . . . The Arthur Hornblows (Juliet Crosby) have completely reconciled . . . The John (Mayfair) Rumsey-Marie Hammans romance has foundered, and she has fled to the coast with Charles Carnevale (Claire Ray's ex) . . . Bette Davis' most persistent long-distance phone disturber is Owen Davis, Jr. . . . The Max Harts (Adele Forrest) will tell it to a judge—in the tragic manner . . . The wealthiest of the Goulds settled Claire Parrish's breach of promise action out of court for plenty last week . . . Mrs. Constance Towne, the lock heiress, is now being supported by the proceeds of her nudist dancing school on her Stamford estate . . . The Phil Baker revusical is off because the Detroit money has faded . . . The Bruce Powells (of the Swope tribe) have exploded. She's in Reno, and Martin Osborn, a polo player, is the new heart.

William Daley, new talkie juvenile, has Claudia Morgan trouble . . . Gwili André's ex-honey, Everett Jacoby, has shifted to Joan Carr, who is Britain-bound . . . The Charles (Held-For-Ransom) Rosenthals are blessed-eventing . . . J. Ross Clark has insomnia because of Betty Gillette. She's the Long Island deb and he's a Los Angeles money-honey . . . The Sutton Club will not reopen, although Cobina Wright is seeking a new spot . . . La Garbo lost no coin in that bank collapse—although all Hollywood blames her demand for 350 G's, via the certified check route, for the fold-up.

* * *

Tammany Hall will be surprised if Aaron Steuer isn't the next Supreme Court judge appointed by the Governor . . . Peggy Taylor, who once was thicker than that with Harry Thaw, is trying to decide between William Frawley and a reportorial ace . . . It's a boy over at the J. M. Lansingers. He's the publisher . . . Joan Crawford has notified MGM to destroy all photos of her when she was a blonde . . . Stanley Logan's new play will star Rod La Rocque and Vilma Banky . . . Uncle Sam stepped in last week and took over the box office of what showman who failed to make a tax return? . . . The B. P. Schulbergs are rehearsing with their attorneys.

Ricardo Cortez and Constance Lewis are veddy, veddy voom-voom. . . . The Thomas Rockwells are on the verge . . . Local gab links the Chevalier blast with Jeannette MacDonald, which is a waste of time, Bob Ritchie still being Head-Man . . . Genevieve Tobin, however, sailed on the same liner. . . . The "Haynes Lebou" signed to the "Reckless Hollywood" book is a nom de plume. The author is an extra on the Hollywood scene . . . Lee Wiley and Art Jarrett, who decided to try Somebody Else, have "gone back together again" . . . Ward Wilson, the ether aper, decorated the paw of Betty Lou Wells, of Washington, with a betrothal sparkler the other midnight . . . The Ferdie Grofes are babying.

Recommended to diversion seekers: The Selbys, an unusual dance and trumpet combination at Malin's menagerie on the Merrick Rd. . . . The rumba stuff at El Gaucho in Washington Sq., in the Village . . . "Bridal Wise" at the Cort . . . Dorothy Stickney's grand pretending in "Another Language" at the Booth . . . "Congorilla" at the Winter Garden . . . The nightly Philharmonic-Symphony concerts at the Lewisohn Stadium (take a No. 5 bus) . . . Gloria Gilbert's exceptional footwork at the Capitol . . . The Puppet Show in the Italian quarter . . . And Dell Lampe's version of "Scattin' The Skeeter Scoot."

For each flicker he makes Will Rogers cash registers $225,000. . . Add Heroes: George Brent, listed as Ruth Chatterton's next husband, who says his favorite actress is Greta! . . . Billie Dove has been out with David Manners three times in the same week, which makes her his girl . . . Not one of the late spots broke even last week, although one Long Island rendezvous was blessed with an $1,800 wine party . . . Karen Morley's real handle is Mildred Linton . . . Gordon Cooper, a Philly scion, and Olga Benson, one of the town's lovelier models, are responsible for the heat wave.

Bernt Balchen, Clarence Chamberlin, Clyde Pangborn, Russell Boardman, Wiley Post and other interntionally famous fliers, who risked their lives for science, are not even making a living . . . Ernest Hemingway, the author, in a few months will make his debut as a bullfighter in Spain . . . Both statements issued by H. Bannister and Ann Harding at the time of their explosion were composed by her. He only signed his . . . He sailed via the double-cabin route—alone! . . . The newest idea in smart dinner parties is called "Strange Interlude" in which the guests speak their thoughts at all times, without stint of conscience. It's more fighting fun.

Adolph Zukor's duties with the movie firm he founded are now confined to touring the key cities and making good-will talks to the local help . . . Playboys now get off the expense nut by installing quarter machines and inviting armies of guests . . . The average profit pays the rent, cole slaw, sandwiches and lager . . . Marie Tanzinger, the ex-Dillingham siren, and H. Tinker, the meat-broker's heir, will middle-aisle it in Chicago . . . Irving Berlin is dickering for a radio hour in the heavy money figure . . . What famous stage director took tickets at the Kid Berg fight? . . . The Joy Dixon-Duncan young romance has soured . . . You can sun yourself in the nude for 25 cents at that spot on the Drive at 134th . . . Richy Craig, Jr., says things are so bad in Boston the actors are throwing pennies at the audience.

The movie mags are saying that the Paul Whitemans (Margaret Livingston) are blessed-eventing, which they aren't . . . It's a girl over at the Robert (music critic) Simons . . . Mrs. George Swift, the meat packer's wife, is under the care of three nurses . . . George Brent is now No. 1 man for fan-mail . . . Cyril Carr, the polo expert, has "Hot-Charmer" trouble . . . The L. Wolfe Gilberts, he wrote "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee," and other smash tunes, at 44, are grandparents . . . The Lila Lee-George Hill merger is being plotted . . . Jocelyn Lee is pining in the old country for George White, who has his own troubles . . . The B. Selvins are fading . . . Were Graham McNamee and Ann O'Brien secretly riveted last week?

Politics Has Demand in Movies

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 27.

Hollywood has rolled up its sleeves and is dishing out political stories as fast as writers can pound them out and cameras can photograph them.

Latest studio to get into line is Universal, which starts work on "Merry-Go-Round," another red-hot potion from our seething political cauldron.

For several weeks this picture has been waiting on the casting office. After several deals were jammed through at the last minute, Carl Laemmle, Jr., announces the following lineup of players: Burton Churchill and Carol Naish.

The screen play of "Merry-Go-Round" was done by Tom Reed and Edward C. Kahn will direct. Chances are there will be a change of title before the film is released.

BOULEVARD TALK:

Those in the know are chuckling over the lyrics of Dorothy Lee's song in a local musical comedy. She warbles of three boy friends and names: Marsh, Jim and Fred. Which easily figures out Marshall Duffield, Jim Fidler and Fred Waringwm. You notice, too, that Marsh gets top billing. Incidentally, Dorothy swears she will never "stooge" for comedians again. Hereafter, somebody else will ask the questions and she will supply the answers.

Dorothy Lee

The July issue of Equity Magazine contains a praye, written by an actor-member. Beneath is added: "All rights reserved." . . . Unless they picked one after this was written, the Constance Bennett picture goes into production without a leading man . . . Down at Laguna Beach, they've persuaded Bob Armstrong to take part in their big open-air fiesta. Other film people who have taken houses at this beauty spot are Frederic March, E. H. Griffith, Arthur Caesar, Charles Kenyon, Chuck Reisner, Polly Moran and Mal St. Clair . . . Newest fad at Hollywood parties is to make records of the guests' voices. Jerry Horwin carried a microphone around all evening when he entertained for Rian James. Some of the playbacks sounded that strange.

UNUSUAL STORY

One of the most unusual stories now in preparation is Fox's "Six Hours to Live." It depicts the actions of a man called back from the verge of death and given six more hours to live. John Boles has just been signed to the cast which already includes Warner Baxter, Gordon Morris (that's Chester's brother) and Martin Barteaux. It will be directed by Williams Dieterle.

Sunday Midnight Shows In Two Houses

The Stanley and Warner theaters will present midnight shows Sunday. On the Stanley screen "The First Year," starring Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor, will be shown. The Warner bill will be "Bring 'Em Back Alive," in which Frank Buck reveals how he bags his game without high-powered guns.

U. S. Acts to Rescue Americans in Brazil

BUENOS AIRES, July 27.—(INS.)—Steps to evacuate United States citizens from the rebel zone in Brazil were taken today by Walter C. Thurston, American charge d'affaires in Rio de Janeiro.

Thurston conferred with the minister of marine at the request of the American consul at Sao Paulo, who advised him many Americans were desirous of leaving the rebel area, but were unable to do so because of the military activities.

27,000 Garment Workers Walk Out

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Machines in 1,450 garment shops throughout the city were silenced this morning as 27,000 workers, responding to orders issued by the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, dropped their tools and left for meeting halls to register their names.

David Dubinsky, uresident, and other officials of the union insisted no strike had been called.

Control of Rentals Proposed in Capital

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(INS.)—Revival of the war-time rent commission to rule landlords in the capital was considered today by a special District of Columbia Senate sub-committee.

Under the leadership of Senator Capper (Rep.), of Kansas, the sub-committee planned to make a searching inquiry into complaints that rents remain high while other prices have declined sharply.

Hale's Two Sons Adopted by Miljan

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(AP.)—The children of Creighton Hale, film actor, taken from him by a court order for failure to support them, were adopted yesterday by John Miljan, movie villain, who married Hale's former wife and mother of the boys, Patrick, 13, and Robert, 11.

BITS OF LIFE
All in a Day
By Mark Hellinger

ONE OF THE prettiest models in this town—she poses for artists and illustrators at plenty of price per diem—is very much in love with a struggling, young artist who, in turn, is very much in love with her. That's a charming way to begin a story and it proves conclusively that beneath this tattered coat there still beats a heart of noble mien. Don't go away, folks. It's the heat that's got me.

Where was I? Oh, yes. I was talking about the pretty girlie and the struggling boy friend. Well, it seems that this model is wise enough to know that your bank account is the best friend you will ever have, including the Scandinavian. She'll tell you herself that she is not greedy for gold; she just wants to have a few dollars around in case of a rainy day. Just a few hundred thousand, or so.

Not so very long ago, a very important ball was scheduled to take place at one of our leading hotels. The young man was compelled to scrape up the price of a ticket, and he approached the model with a definite invitation.

"Barbara," he announced, "I'm taking you to that big affair on Saturday night. If we can keep from tripping over the drunks, we should have a swell time."

The girl sighed.

"I'm sorry, boy. But I won't be able to go with you. I don't want you to go into hysterics when I tell you this, but I've already promised someone else. I'm going with B——B——."

She mentioned the name of a very prominent man in this town; a renowned old bird who has several million dollars, a generous helping of rheumatism and a fine portion of the gout.

The boy became extremely peeved.

"That's rotten," he growled. "You tell me you love me and you know I love you. And what happens? Whenever you have nothing to do, you're glad to see me. But when I want you to go somewhere important with me, you always have a date with some old bozo who, with a good sneeze, would fall right into his grave.

"I'm getting tired of it. That's what I am—getting tired of it."

The model kissed him sweetly.

"Don't talk like a child, darling. You know very well that I have to go out with these important men. Now, listen: I'll have to be with my escort early in the evening, but I'll try to duck him when you get to the ball!" . . . .

On the evening in question, at the appointed hour, the artist arrived at the hotel and began looking for his sweetheart. The ball was at its height, the ballroom was gaily decorated, the music played beautifully, and everybory was bored stiff.

As a natural thing, he looked first in the boxes above the dance floor. At these affairs, anyone who is supposedly worthwhile always occupies a box. The bigger the boob, the better the box. The young man kept walking, but he could find no trace of the girl.

Suddenly, to his amazement, he saw her sitting on the dance floor proper. Her elderly escort was beside her. The boy rushed down the tiny flight of stairs that led to the dance floor, greeted his sweetheart and drew her to one side.

"What's the idea?" he grinned. "How come you're sitting on the dance floor among us common people? Hasn't that old bag of bones enough dough to buy a box?"

"Don't be a fool," was the girl's indignant reply. "He has that big box in the center up there. It must have cost him a fortune."

The boy was persistent.

"Well," he continued, "why aren't you up there in it?"

The model's answer was brief and to the point.

"Because," she barked as she turned away, "he can't climb the stairs!"

Conference in Metrotone News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The opening of the British Empire Economic Conference in the Parliamentary Building, Ottawa, Canada, is pictured in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Lord Bessborough, governor-general of Canada, welcomes the visiting statesmen from England and the dominions and reads them a message of encouragement from King George. Premier Bennett, chairman of the conference, addressing the assembly, declares that ways and means will surely be found to restore imperial prosperity. The current Hearst Metrotone News is being shown in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters.

Scenes in the life work of Florenz Ziegfeld are presented with a talk by The Globe Trotter. The different pictures show the late Mr. Ziegfeld surrounded by a group of his "Glorified Girls." There are scenes of him rehearsing one of his productions while the final sequence shows him in his office where he declares that after searching the world he is thoroughly convinced that the American girl is the most beautiful on earth.

For the first time since 1924, King George of England, as a "senior admiral," reviews the mighty British fleet off Portland Harbor from the deck of the huge aircraft carrier courageous." With him are the Prince of Wales and Prince George, who later don flying suits and start for a flight on one of the carrier's planes. They are accompanied by a Hearst Metrotone News cameraman and aerial views of the fleet are shown. Closing scenes show the big sea fighters steaming at full speed, and the sailors, because of the visit of the King, each receiving an extra portion of grog, a quaint old English custom.

Air views bring to the screen a comprehensive panorama of the wonder city that is rising on the site for the Chicago 1933 world's fair—"A Century of Progress." The flight carries you over the transportation and travel building, the Shedd aquarium, administration building, hall of science, the electrical group of buildings, all rapidly approaching completion.

Real 'Necking' Scene In RKO Film

Gregory LaCava achieved a unique "necking" scene for RKO Radio's "The Age of Consent" by throwing the script aside and instructing his young extras to flirt as if they were at home in the parlor. The sound man turned on the mike, the cameras were focused and a scene of ad lib "necking" followed that should set a new mark for naturalism!

Comment on Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

There are indications that there will be independent booking of attractions in some theaters throughout the country, presumably not included in the arrangements made to cover the activities of the booking combine of the Shubert-Erlanger interests. This seems to be implied by the fact that Madge Kennedy and James Rennie, now playing in "Bridal Wise," comedy in New York, have deputized a member of the company to negotiate for direct bookings in Boston and Chicago. The theaters are The Wilbur, in the eastern city, and the Blackstone, in the Town of Winds.

STOCKS POINT FOR HIGHER LEVELS

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—After wobbling uncertainly during the morning, the stock market responded once more to bullish stimulation today.

Steels weakened rather emphatically for a time, on publication of the June quarter reports of United States Steel and several of the independents, showing deficits fully as large as expected.

The regular United States Steel preferred dividend prompted profit-taking in that issue. A fairly favorable power production report, however, and the recall of workers at the RCA-Victor plant, provided speculators for the rise with fresh ammunition.

In the electric power group, gains of 1 to 2 points appeared in American Water Works, Standard Gas, Pacific Lighting, Commonwealth and Southern preferred and United Corporation preferred. Radio Corporation common gained fractionally. Miscellaneous rails were higher, 1-point gains appearing in Union Pacific, Northehrn Pacific, Illinois Central and Atlantic Coast Line. Losses of about a point in American Telephone and Westinghouse were recovered. Standard of New Jersey and United States Steel common sagged major fractions, and failed to rally with much enthusiasm. United States Steel preferred dropped 4, then recovered much of its loss. Trading was moderately active.

What with hopes of autumn business recovery growing more sanguine, and important selling pressure having been kept off the market for several weeks, speculators for the rise were more successful in attracting a public following than they have been in months. While the so-called public was nibbling with extreme caution, some commission houses reported the best public response of the year, and the long deserted board rooms were fairly well filled in many instances. The turn was still regarded with a good deal of skepticism in some quarters, however.

Electric power output for the week ended July 23 was off 13.1 per cent from last year, or slightly better than the 13.9 per cent drop of the previous week, which had made the worst comparison so far this year. The week's production of 1,433,933,000 kilowatt hours was about 18,000,000 above the previous week. The gain in the same week of 1931 was, roughly, 6,000,000, and in 1930, 20,000,000, while there was a small decline in 1929. Freight car loadings for the week, on the basis of individual reports now available, seem to be barely holding their own, but the power production report is now widely regarded as a more important index. The strength of Commonwealth and Southern preferred followed declaration of the regular dividend. Omission of the common had been expected.

STEEL OUTPUT GAINS HERE

NEW YORK, July 27.—Iron Age tomorrow will say:

Without any change in the volume of business to account for it, an air of cheerfulness has pervaded the steel industry. Marked improvement in sentiment is predicated largely on expectations of a seasonal recovery beginning not later than September, together with the widespread conviction that fundamental conditions are favorable for a turn and that business cannot much longer remain as bad as it has been the past few months.

Not the least of the favorable factors, from the viewpoint of the steel industry, is the firmness of steel prices, which have reached more solid ground through the shipment of practically all of the low-priced tonnage carried over from the second quarter. Heavy melting steel scrap, price movements of which are sometimes regarded as having barometric significence, has advanced 50 cents a ton at Chicago as a result of offers from Canada and prospective buying by a domestic mill, the first rise in that market since January, 1931. At Pittsburgh there has been an advance of 50 cents a ton on turnings and the entire scrap market has a firm understone

Steel ingot output remains at last week's rate of 16 per cent. A little ground has been lost at Chicago, owing to the idleness of two rail mills, but there has been a small gain at Pittsburgh.

BANKS FAVOR ENDING LOAN SHRINKAGE

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Chief executives of New York banks expressed keen interest in the suggestion made in this column that co-operative action, led by members of the New York Clearing House Association, might be a useful means of stopping the shrinkage of loans.

Several bank presidents thought that the banks had already escaped from their fears, and were in a more cheerful frame of mind. The executive head of one institution was considering advertising for good commercial loans and virtually all of them indicated that they can't find as many desirable commercial loans as they would like to make. They specified that the loan had to be not only sound, but reasonably liquid, with a fairly near-term due date.

Mr. Rukeyser

BANK HOARDING LESS

The worst of bank hoarding is over, was the consensus of opinion. The recent rise in selected commodity prices and in security prices has created a much better sentiment in the financial district, though some bank heads were still keeping an open mind as to whether this particular rally would carry through.

In explaining why loans by New York district banks had shrunken from $4,948,000,000 to $4,242,000,000 since February 24, when the new Federal Reserve expansionist policy was adopted, it was pointed out that the entrance of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation into the field at about that time had displaced some bank loans.

Other causes cited by bankers for the decline in bank loans in recent months included: A further decline in the volume of business and hence in the demand for credit; shrinkage in the dollar volume as a result of price declines; persistent efforts by banks to collect undermargined loans; necessity of reducing credit lines to commercial borrowers as their net worth declined on account of current operating losses, and lack of willingness on the part of the strongest corporations to make use of facilities for bank credit.

SMALL LOANS DENIED

One nationally known banker told me:

"There was considerable bank hoarding earlier in the year. There doubtless is some now, but not as much as there was."

He explained the motive for it by citing an anecdote that occurred during the panic year of 1893. A director was chosen to become president of a bank. He resigned the office in less than a year. The bank examiner asked him why, and he replied:

"I've found out that banking consists of borrowing on demand, and lending on time."

The president of one bank, which is a member of the New York Clearing House, said that he thought the Clearing House might well take the leadership, as suggested, in formulating a joint policy to stop reducing net loans. He declared that banks, overeager for liquidity, had been refusing loans to small borrowers on figures that would have caused them to lend a couple of years ago.

COTTON PRICES RULE STEADY

NEW YORK, July 27.—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 to 4 points lower, in response to lower Liverpool cables and on generally favorable crop and weather advices.

A favorable view of general trade conditions checked selling and early in the day the market developed a steadier tone. Losses were regained and prices advanced to about the previous closing level or slightly above.

October sold up from 5.73 to 5.78 and at midday eased to 5.76. The general market then was 1 point net lower to 1 higher.

LIVERPOOL, July 27.—Cotton, 11,000 bales, including 1,900 American. Spot in better demand, improved business; prices 7 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 5.12; good middling, 4.87; strict middling, 4.67; middling, 4.57; strict low middling, 4.52; low middling, 4.42; strict good ordinary, 4.22; good ordinary, 3.92. Futures closed quiet. July, 4.35; October, 4.35; December, 4.39; January, 4.42; March, 4.48; May, 4.54.

P.R.R. Carloadings Decline for Week

Total cars handled by the Pennsylvania System during the week ended July 23 were 76,689 compared to 78,449 in the preceding week and 116,145 during the like week in 1931.

From January 1 to July 23, loaded cars totaled 2,541,161, against 3,480,234 cars in the like 1931 period.

Liverpool Wheat Market.

LIVERPOOL, July 27.—The market was due to open 1c to 1¼c higher. Started 1c to 1¼c up, and at 12:15 p. m. was up 1¼c to 1½c.

Wheat closed 1 to 1½d higher today.

BLONDIE OF THE FOLLIES

From Which M. G. M. Has Made A Motion Picture Starring Marion Davies

By FRANCES MARION

Conditions at Home Become Worse When Blondie's Dad Loses Job

CHAPTER III.

As Blondie sat on the window ledge, looking with unseeing eyes at the hectic activity in the street below, she was almost in tears. Suddenly she got hold of herself. She straightened up abruptly. Her head went up, her chin in the air. She took a deep breath, and forced herself not to make it a sigh. Then her native humor began to assert itself. She laughed softly at first, and then louder, until it was honest, rippling Irish laughter, and Blondie helped it along by imitating Lottie. She started to put on airs, just as Lottie did in imitating her customers.

Suddenly her little show was interrupted by footsteps clattering down the fire escape. Mrs. Callahan, hearing Blondie on the landing below, was hurrying down to see her.

"Good evening, Blondie," greeted Lottie's mother, sitting beside her.

"Good evening, Mrs. Callahan," grinned Blondie. "Me and Lottie had a scrap."

"Silly girls. I know all about it." Then Mrs. Callahan thrust her worn, wrinkled face close to Blondie's, and her eyes had a haunted look in them. "Blondie," she whispered, "you're with Lottie all the time. What's the matter with her?"

"How do you mean?" and Blondie sensed something wrong.

"Well, you two girls are such friends, I thought you might know. She's not herself at all. Have you any idea of what might be worryin' her?" The pathetically tired woman looked at Blondie anxiously.

"No—Lottie's all right. She's up one minute and down the next. Don't worry about her, Mrs. Callahan—she's all right."

ACTING STRANGE

When Mrs. Callahan rubbed her thin hands together they made a grating sound. "But she's been actin' so queer lately—she hates comin' home, she hates the flat—the kids—" brokenly, "even me sometimes! It's as if we wasn't good enough for her. Last night she says to me: 'I'm gonna get out of this hole, ma, and be a lady if I have to commit murder!' she says, and I—"

Mrs. Callahan was interrupted by a cry from above.

"Oh, Maw! Maw!"

Giving Blondie a little pat, Mrs. Callahan arose quickly.

"Yes, Lottie; I'm comin'!" the mother called, and hurried up the iron steps.

Blondie's world was dark again. Now she was more worried than ever about Lottie. Why, even Lottie's mother had noticed the change in the girl. What was the matter with her? Well, tomorrow, when they were at lunch, Blondie would find out. She would pin Lottie down and make her tell what had brought about this change.

Like a youngster looking for something to do, Blondie idly began to pull the dead leaves off three scrawny geranium plants, each single stem in an individual battered pot, perched on the fire escape landing. When she noticed the great number of withered leaves, she poked a finger into the earth surrounding each frail stem, only to find it dry and hard. She jumped up dramatically and started for the McClune living room.

As she entered the door, she cried out despairingly:

"Can you beat that—those plants have had no water again!" She made the announcement as though it was the most important thing in the world at the moment. Her listeners paid not a bit of attention.

Blondie hurried across the living room into the kitchen, picked up a milk bottle and filled it with water at the sink. Leaving the kitchen, she heard Pete:

"It serves them right—they've been cocky too long!"

"Who?" questioned Blondie as she passed her brother-in-law stretched out on the couch.

"All of them."

"All of what?" Blondie paused for the answer.

"The rich—gettin' all the luxuries—and people like us haven't health enough to work!"

Blondie silenced him with a look. She almost snickered as she said sarcastically:

"Just a little wilted violet!"

"That's right, give me the laugh—you're always givin' me the ha! ha!"

"It's a good thing somebody laughs around this place," and Blondie went out with her bottle of water.

Leaning out on the fire escape landing, she poured the water on the thirsty plants, watching it seep quickly into the dry soil. As she emptied the bottle into the last pot, she glanced down at the crowded street below. Attracted by a fluttering handkerchief, Blondie saw her father coming across the street.

LOST HIS JOB

Good old Pa, she thought, as she watched her father continue on his way to the tenement entrance. Now she could unburden herself and be listened to! Pa would understand, and Pa would help her—help her get straightened out mentally and let her relieve herself of some of this worry. She hurried down the hall to the head of the stairs to meet him.

"Been doing a little gardening?" her father asked as he slowly and with apparent effort climbed the stairs.

"Hello, Pa!" Blondie called, as she watched him, a little frown on her face. She stepped down a few steps, put her arms around his neck, and gave him a big hug.

"You've been walking," Blondie declared as she helped him up the remaining steps.

"Walking? — Yes," admitted Pa, wiping his moist brow. He was breathing hard and readily accepted her invitation to sit down on the top step.

"Well, the doctor said you shouldn't."

"Doctor, huh!"

"Well he said you shouldn't. Where'd you walk from?"

"The corner."

"Which corner?"

"Quite a lot of corners, Blondie—today," he said wearily.

What do you mean—a lot of corners?" Blondie asked, worriedly. "They didn't let you out at the office, did they?"

Like a naughty little boy Pa nodded.

"Out—yes."

"When—today?" Blondie was all concern now.

"Day before yesterday. I've been looking around since. I told Ma not to tell you."

"Why, Pa, I thought we were pals!" Blondie affectionately put her arms around the old man. She took his handkerchief, wiped his brow, patted him gently on the cheek, then stroked his head lovingly. She took absolute possession of him. It might have been a mother talking to her child.

"Poor Pa . . . Poor old Pa . . . and I love you so much."

Synopsis

Blondie McClune and Lottie Callahan, friends since childhood, work in the same store. After work one evening, Lottie says she has a date and asks Blondie to join her. Blondie disapproves. Two men wait for them outside the building. When one becomes too familiar with her, Blondie slaps his face and goes home alone, to the poor section of the city. Later the two girls argue about the date and it ends in a rough and tumble fight. Blondie's dress is torn and she decides to get a new one. Looking for some money she had saved, she discovers that it is gone. She is unable to learn what became of it and her visions of a new dress are shattered.

Now Go On

"It's a good thing somebody laughs around here," said Blondie. (Marion Davies, as Blondie, and Sarah Padden, as Ma McClune.)

Heart of a Wife

Telegram from Hugh Grantland Interrupts Dinner

As Harry Underwood, with a quick perfunctory apology, tore open the yellow envelope which the telegraph messenger had just delivered, every eye at the table was turned to him.

"Sorry to disturb you people," he said, "but this is an urgent business telegram which must be handled at once. You younger people will have to finish the dinner by yourselves. Try not to throw the plates, and ask Katie to keep things warm for those of us who must leave you. Lillian! Madge! Dicky-bird! I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to come with me."

We rose at once.

GIVEN TO CHIEF

"It's a long one in code," he said in a low voice. "Perhaps your father has the solution in that carefully guarded code book of his. Can we get hold of him do you think?"

"I'm sure the little boys must be tucked in bed by now," I said.

"We'll all go up," he decided. "If the boys aren't in bed we can shift 'em over to Mother Graham. The Chief's room is the best, the most secluded for a conference, anyway."

We filed silently, rapidly up the stairs and down the corridor to my father's room in the wing.

"Is anything wrong?" he said quickly.

"No, no," I answered, but Mr. Underwood amended my statement.

"Not that we know of," he said. "But I've just received a long telegram in code that I can't make anything of. I thought you ought to see it at once."

"Of course." My father stretched out his hand and taking the paper, read it attentively twice. Then he rose, throwing a curt "lock the door" over his shoulder, and went over to a small trunk which always stands in his room and which we all know contains a cleverly arranged secret compartment. After a tedious unlocking of numerous compartments, one fitting inside the other—the looting of that trunk would be a matter of time—he slid aside a panel, and took from the recess the code book in which he has many relics of his secret service, many no longer in use, but still treasured by him.

"Queer that it should be addressed to you, Underwood," he said. "I'm sure the code I have here is known only to one other man and myself."

"I didn't know that it was," Mr. Underwood confessed. "Katie brought it in to me, and she can be counted on to get things mixed up if anybody can. I didn't even look at the superscription, but tore the thing open. I'm afraid the envelope's not much good now." He put his hand in his pocket, bringing out the torn envelope ruefully, but my father waved it aside.

SENT BY HUGH

"What does it matter?" he asked. "The telegram's here, so is the code, all we have to do is to put them together. But if it's the one I think it's an intricate thing that takes some time to work out. Clear the table for me, will you, darling?" he gestured to me—"and we'll get to work."

I had his table cleared by the time he came back to his chair, and laid out a supply of pencils and note paper. Then we all sat back and watched while he looked through the code book, took out some closely written pages, compared them with the telegram, and uttered a little grunt of satisfaction.

"There is no signature," he said, looking at us. "There need be none. That code is known only to myself and one other—Hugh Grantland."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

The managers of the Warner neighborhood theaters, where the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club meet every Saturday, each have a different method of staging entertainment for the members.

As a general rule there is always some kind of a contest in which all of the members compete. The one contest which is sure to bring hearty laughs from the members is a watermelon eating contest such as Miss Mildred Rotthoff, assistant cashier of the Rowland Theater, Wilkinsburg, put on for the entertainment of the members Saturday.

Fifteen boys were called to the stage and two big watermelons were cut into 14 equal parts. At the word "go" these youngsters started eating and they were encouraged by shouts from the audience. "Com'on Billy" and "Com'on Jack," "Hurry up Tom, you're 'way behind Jim" were just some of the cries from the crowd.

GIVEN PRIZES

After the stage was covered with matermelon seeds and most of the 14 boys were covered from head to foot with watermelon, Arthur Holstead and Thomas O'Neill were judged the winners, and each received a large rubber ball as the prize.

The Rowland Komic Club orchestra then entertained the members with several popular numbers and Marion Bloom sang "Was That the Human Thing to Do."

Birthday cakes were distributed to the members who celebrated birthdays last week and the meeting was closed by all the members singing "Harvest Moon," "Put That Sun Back in the Sky" and "All of Me."

OFFICERS NAMED

Manager Earl Roeser, of the Cameraphone Theater reports that more and more children are attending the meetings each week. Last week the youngsters held an election of officers and the following boys and girls were elected to preside at the next four meetings: Joseph Scaring, grand jester; William Kerr, Frank Amato, Daniel McCarthy, Mary Alice Hainey, Anna May Beatty, Loretta May Williams and Emily Jane McQuillan board of governors.

After the election of officers, Manager Roeser held an ice cream cone eating contest and Dorothy Crozier and Blair Quigley walked away with the honors. These two youngsters, according to Earl, each ate their cone so fast that there was no doubt about the winners. However, one little girl who competed, said that she didn't care about the prize—all she wanted was the cone and that she took her time eating it because it was so good she wanted to enjoy it just as long as possible.

SING AND DANCE

Lucy Scaring, sister of the newly-elected grand jester, sang a couple of songs for the members and Josephine Trustani and Amelia Brozol danced, while Eddie Riffel offered a song and dance. Mrs. Roeser told the children that when they attended the meeting next Saturday they would each receive an ice cream cone.

Roosevelt and Garner A Bulwark Against War Debt Cancellation

All Americans know where Gov. Roosevelt and Speaker Garner stand upon the vital question of Europe's war debts to the United States.

Both have declared that they stand squarely upon the platform of their party which contains this specific pledge:

"We oppose cancellation of the debts owing to the United States by foreign nations."

All mention of war debts was carefully eliminated from the Republican platform upon which Mr. Hoover and Mr. Curtis are running for re-election.

This elimination was not accidental. It was intentional. And the delicate task of bringing it about is said to have been entrusted by Mr. Hoover to two members of his cabinet who attended the Chicago convention.

If there is one question in this campaign upon which the American people have a right to know where the opposing candidates for President, Vice President, Senator and Representative in Congress stand, it is the question of whether Europe's war debts shall be cancelled.

Obviously the European governments are organizing a drive, the purpose of which is to reopen the debt settlement with the United States to which they have all subscribed.

Obviously the object of reopening these settlements is to bring about ultimate cancellation of these war debts by the devious method of reconsideration, revision and elimination.

No question with which the next administration will have to deal is more important to the future welfare of the American people than the attitude of their head servants in Washington toward Europe's war debts to the United States.

The House of Morgan and the other fiscal agents of foreign powers desire to see Europe's war debts cancelled and the American people bear the burden of these debts in increased taxes.

The administration at Washington seems to follow without deviation the desires of the House of Morgan and the other international bankers.

The failure of the Republican platform to declare against the cancellation of Europe's war debts to America is an indication of a disposition to leave the administration free to deal with the war debt situation as it sees fit, or as the fiscal agents of the European nations see fit.

The amount involved is a matter of eleven thousand million dollars.

European nations and their fiscal agents can afford to put a lot of money into this campaign to insure the election of an administration which will relieve Europe of this eleven thousand million dollars of debt and place the burden on the American people.

If the American people do not want to bear the burden they should elect an administration definitely committed against the cancellation of Europe's war debts to America.

The Democratic national platform declares against such debt cancellation.

The Democratic presidential candidate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, declares against such debt cancellation.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate, John N. Garner, who will be the presiding officer of the Senate, is firmly committed against debt cancellation.

Those citizens of the United States who want more taxes than they already have will vote for debt cancellation and for the administration which inclines toward it.

Those who are opposed to debt cancellation and to the further tax burdens which debt cancellation would compel, will vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

Utility Policy Clear

Ainey Inquiry May Explain Many Decisions Made By Public Service Commission.

The charges made against W. D. B. Ainey, chairman of the Public Service Commission, must be proved by a thorough investigation before a positive appraisal of his record as a public servant can be made. But the statements of Gov. Pinchot indicate that a strong case can be made against him and that Ainey will have to do much explaining to clear his record.

If it can be proved that Ainey actually did accept money, trips to Europe or permitted his bills to be paid by officials of public utility companies, the sincerity of many of the recent decisions of the Public Service Commission will be subject to question. If these charges can be proved, and judgment must be withheld until proofs are definite, the attitude of the commission on many questions will be understandable.

If the Governor's charges stand the test of a thorough inquiry we may know why the commission has been so unwilling to take the initiative against utility companies on questions of rates. We may be able to understand why the commission's power to start cases has not been used where there has been reasonable suspicion that electric rates have been too high.

If the charges are proved we may know why the commission has permitted the Philadelphia Company to maintain a monopoly of bus transportation in this city and to charge a 25-cent fare when several independent operators have been willing to give comparable service for lower rates.

In the past there was always a possibility that the Public Service Commission was acting sincerely in its decisions. It was always possible that a reasonable difference of opinion might exist.

But if it can be shown beyond any doubt that Ainey was personally enriched by public utility companies we may be justified in questioning the commission's attitude on many of these problems.

The Ainey charges do not constitute an indictment of the entire commission, but, if they are upheld, the state should undertake an inquiry into the conduct of his associates in order to determine whether or not any other commissioners have been guilty of similar practices. No innocent man would suffer from such an inquiry. Innocent members of the commission should favor such an inquiry in order to remove any stigma which the Ainey charges might cast against them.

Hearst Papers Advocate:

1.—The five billion dollar loan to relieve unemployment and put billions of dollars into immediate circulation.

2.—Adoption of 5 per cent sales tax and reduction in income taxes, releasing income to finance industry.

3.—Immediate modification of the Volstead Act, permitting light wines and beers, reviving industry and employment, providing government income, ending criminal racketeering and restoring American personal liberty.

Two Trees of National Defense

(Copyright, 1932.)

Instead of building the United States Navy up to the quota allowed under the London Naval Treaty, the United States, from the day the Hoover Administration entered power, has neglected to build up to treaty strength, with the result that the United Sates Navy is every day falling farther and farther behind the navies of Great Britain and Japan.

Japan combats the depression by PROVIDING EMPLOYMENT for her people in the shipyards which are building the ships that will soon give Japan a navy more powerful than that of the United States.

This nation refuses to build the navy up to treaty strength because the Hoover Administration insists upon financing the financiers at home and thrusting a moratorium upon our war debtors abroad.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Good New Days

"There are lots of bright spots appearing on our cloudy horizon these days," remarked the Golf Widow. "Lots of compensations, I mean.

* * *

"The prompt way in which husbands come home to dinner is, in itself, a revelation! Many a man who used to be the life of the speakeasy and the light of the night clubs is now a sane and sober little fireside companion, with whom his wife is getting acquainted all over again. When a man has no money for whoopee palaces, poker or golf, his wife gets lots more of his society.

"Another delightful sign of the times is the passing of the elderly Don Juans and Cassenovas. Those dear old middle-aged girl-charmers, who once thought themselves things of beauty and boys forever, with too much "I" to waste on any one woman, have had their vanity painfully punctured. They have discovered that no amount of "sex appeal" will offset a flat pocketbook; and that, next to scrambled eggs, nothing cools and hardens so quickly as a flapper's heart, when daddy has nothing to offer but love!

* * *

"As for the flapper—ah, where ARE the flappers of yesteryear? I'll tell you where. Half of them have found jobs and gone to work, and the rest are in business schools learning how to be REGULAR women and useful citizens, and hoping to marry some poor young man and darn his socks—instead of yearning to be some rich old man's darling.

"It's been a wholesome thing for the married women, too. Many a spoiled and pampered wife, who was lolling around expensive summer hotels, worrying about her figure and so bored to death that she was headed straight for Reno and the gigelo-game, has had to pitch in and put on a kitchen apron or go down town and get a job—and thereby has escaped elephantiosis and fatty degeneration of the brain, and is finding life interesting again.

* * *

"In short, all the molluscs and barnacles and lightweights and short measures that cluttered up this world—all the playboys and playgirls—are either being eliminated or being transformed into responsible human beings.

* * *

"Everybody is getting his (or her) eyes open, perceiving what a fool he was making of himself, and settling down to a healthier and more normal existence.

* * *

"The jazz age is over! 'Easy money' is no more! Bounders and grafters and snobs and four-flushers are OUT of the picture. 'Velvet' and silk-plush jobs and feather-bed existences are almost unknown. And I'm not sorry for it—I'm glad of it!

* * *

It isn't poverty and struggle and hard work that wreck a man, a woman or a nation. It's too much money, and prosperity, and ease and luxury."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 27.—Like London's famous street cries, New York pavement characters offer a prickling panorama. No mid-town figure is gayer than Blind George, the newsman, holding forth on a Bryant Park corner. On a lower reach of Lafayette, Silk Hat Tony adds his touch of the ridiculous.

In high silk hat and frock coat, he furnishes shines to his customers. Somebody gave him the regalia and dared him to wear it on duty. He did, and had his biggest day. That was three years ago, and Tony prospered amazingly. And there is the top-hatted fellow with the electrically lighted shirt front.

Also, Skyscraper Ike, who weaves perilously through street traffic on 20-foot-high stilts, placarded with a quick lunch menu. Brooklyn Ada has worked the same block in West Forty-sixth for innumerable years, always in need of "only a nickel to get to Brooklyn." Apple Mary stands near the entrance of 26 Broadway.

Dusk brings its pairs of blind musicians in single file, who parade Broadway, rendering lively tunes. On a stretch of upper Riverside is Cohan, the leather-tanned photographer, who has stood on the roadside with his tripod for 10 years. Battery Dan of the barge office.

In Fifty-seventh street is the sombreroed Indian, hawking wiggling green snakes of wood. And, of course, the flood of street urchins with single copies of magazines, soliciting automobilists, "Buy this mister, so I can go home!" A flivver supply depot nearby keeps them in constant supply.

A subtlety of ragamuffins these days is a sleeping racket. Theatergoers return to cars, parked in side streets, to find tatterdemalions feigning slumber on the running board. Awakened, they begin a sniffle off in a niggling frustration. The artifice always inspires a jingle of coins.

* * *

Edgar Saltus zoomed all too briefly across literary skies. With his great gifts, he wrote comparatively little. Yet he has a staunch and select coterie of worshippers as fervid as the followers of Conrad or Wells. Many rate him an epigrammatist on par with Whistler and Wilde. I thought of him today, after a flash at a headlined "Love at first sight" society romance quickly beached in a tabloid headline. Saltus once wrote: "Love at first sight ends in divorce at first slight."

* * *

Walter O'Keefe's sudden upshoot in the American uproar as an epigrammatist, incidentally, is no surprise to those who gathered about his table in a faraway corner of Barney Gallant's, in the Village, where he got his toe-hold as a clever master of ceremony. He has come into full flex nationally, of late, over the radio, but for a half dozen years he has been spinning wisecracks with innocent benediction. From Barney's he was graduated into sophisticated revues, interpolating his pure freaks of absurdity with an occasional stinging lyric. Perhaps his most widely quoted mot was his description of Hollywood. He pictured it as: "Bridgeport—with palms."

* * *

Little Frankie of the Algonquin will be missed. For 25 years he was the night elevator man. I came to know Frankie when my mother-in-law resided there. His mood was amiable always, and I was beholden to him for a trifle more confidence in human nature. With shy pathos, he sweetened the world by such little acts of grace as keeping crackers hidden for dogs—all leaping to him with affection. He knew the great intimately, but never shed the humility of his role. John Drew addressed him in mock obeisance as Francesco, and he was on intimate footing with Henry L. Mencken, Joe Hergesheimer, Elsie Janis, Jim Tully, Ina Claire and Bert Lytell. He kept a watchful eye on Doug Fairbanks, Jr., and Buster Collier in pinafore days. It is somehow a desolating thought, none of us will see Frankie in this world. Frank Case expressed it perfectly in a privately circulated panegyric. He wrote: "Frankie has made his last trip up. He will not be down again."

* * *

I often wonder if some of the most pleasant human contacts are not with night elevator men. Life seasons but never hardens them. Who, having met, could forget the white-haired veteran of the London Savoy's life? Or Old Wash at the Hargrave 20 years ago? Or the asthma-stricken optimist of the Ritz? Or the scholarly looking courtier at 290 Park?

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

When's man too old to work?

Does his usefulness cease at 35?

If you were an employer with a big position to fill, would you give it to the lively young fellow under 30 and pass up the slower, quieter fellow who had been through the mill?

There's a question that started before hard times commenced, and will still be going strong when they're through. And C. E. Reeves, of Philadelphia, would like to hear your answer. Here's part of his letter:

"Relief bills and political programs aren't going to mend things for a lot of us who are up against the 'age limitation' prejudice. For years now there has been an increasing trend in big business to reject men over 35 years of age. Hundreds of thousands of men past that are now sitting at home in utter despair because they know that, even when prosperity does return, they will be turned down because they are 'too old.'

"Yet these men are our best trained workers. They've just gotten their stride and learned how to handle themselves as well as their job. But the rage for youth results in their being turned down in favor of some young cub, not yet dry behind the ears.

"I myself am a well-trained worker in a difficult line of work. I haven't a mark against me on my record. I am 38 years old and in good health. Yet on three out of five times in the last three months, when I was on the verge of getting a position, I was rejected because of my age!

"What's going to happen to us? Are our homes to be broken up, our wives sent with us to the poor house, our children committed to charitable institutions? Can't something be done to regulate this cold-hearted policy on the part of big business? The government saved the slaves. The modern American man—and woman worker, too—who is over 35 is reduced to worse than slavery.

"What is responsible for this condition?"

I suspect that the cussedness of the over-30 worker is primarily responsible for it, friend. Many of us have become powerful "sot in our ways," by the time we're 35. We don't look old or act old, but we THINK and FEEL old. And the more successful we are, the more "sot" we're apt to be—the more sure that OUR method is the only right one.

I can't speak for the man worker, but I know scores of women workers who are disqualified for this reason. They're smart, attractive, skilled workers; but you can't tell them anything." They have acquired certain habits of thought and work which they refuse to change.

AND THE SKILLFUL EMPLOYER FEELS THIS RESISTANCE IN THEM; HE SEES THE BATTLE AHEAD IF HE TRIES TO CHANGE THEIR ATTITUDE AND METHODS; AND HE PREFERS TO TRAIN A YOUNGSTER RATHER THAN ATTEMPT TO ADJUST A STUBBORN ADULT.

That's the way it looks to me; but perhaps I'm wrong.

How about the over-30 people of your acquaintance, stranger? Are they still plastic, still ready to learn the new tricks that are so necessary in this swiftly moving age? Or are they set in the program they learned back in 1922, but that somehow doesn't click in 1932?

And if you were an employer, would you, or wouldn't you, respect that "age limitation prejudice?"

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Because you are selfish you get very little enjoyment out of life.

You always want to get a little more than your share of everything.

Unsuccessful, you are unhappy, and envy the one who has procured what you hoped to obtain, even though you were not entitled to it.

As a child you grabbed the biggest piece of cake.

As an adult, you seek more than your share of family income.

You are unwilling to do without things you want in favor of what others of your family may need.

If you are pleasant and good natured it is because you are allowed to have your own way, for you are mighty disagreeable if another insists on his or her rights.

You grumble at the expenditures of some member of the family and make outlays for yourself far in excess of those about whom you complain.

You don't do your share of the home work, because you are selfish.

In fact, it pleases you to make others work while you enjoy leisure.

Aren't you a general shirker—hence an unkind, selfish person?

Fifty-fifty has no part in your personal plans.

Waste of Public's Money

Appeal Made by Railroad Executives Omitted Mention of Speculations Costing Millions.

By JULIUS G. BERENS

Financial Editor, New York American

THE PUBLIC was appealed to by railroad executives, in their joint statement last week, to safeguard this great industry from unfair competition of buses, trucks and waterways.

Also, the public was asked to see to it that existing regulations of railroads is relaxed "so as to restore freedom of managerial control."

The wail of railroad managers is warranted—to a degree.

Their "appeal to the public," however, omits some very pertinent items.

The appeal, too, was badly timed. It coincided with the Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the long-sought four-party eastern railway consolidation.

REMARKS of some Interstate Commerce Commissioners contain the pertinent details so thoughtlessly omitted from the rail executives' appeal.

Insofar as the railway executives seek equality of regulation with competitive transportation facilities they are perfectly sound.

Their pledge "to avoid all preventative wastes in competitive relationships between ourselves" is also admirable—if the carriers do not violate proper legal restrictions, the rights of labor, of the public welfare.

The executives could go much further.

Their pledge and appeal quite noticeably omitted all mention of the railroad speculations in securities of other roads.

Not a word concerning the hundreds of millions of dollars thrown into purchase of stocks and bonds of railways which trunk lines were anxious to absorb.

These purchases were made WITHOUT sanction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whose authority over such matters was either ignored or rendered ineffective by subterfuge.

SAYS Interstate Commerce Commissioner Eastman, dissenting from the merger approval, and charging violation of the Clayton act in specific instances:

"The proposed systems have in large part been brought into being without our approval and REGARDLESS OF LAW. . . Applicants have not sought authority to do a single thing."

The rail executives, in their public appeal, are magnificently silent on this whole phase of their problem.

Probably FIVE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS of railroad money has been sunk into such extraneous purchases.

These acquisitions were inspired principally by personal ambitions, feuds, or similar unbusinesslike motives of railway executives, their bankers and controlling individuals.

That money, most of which has been irretrievably lost through depreciation, which in some instances represents outright extinction of the "investment," came out of working capital of the railroads.

The carriers today are urgently in need of working capital. The executives' statements says nothing whatever concerning this phase of their management or, to be more correct, their mismanagement.

THE five hundred million dollars WASTED in these ILLEGAL or unwarranted stock and bond dealings amount to TWO AND ONE-HALF times the amount "saved" for railways by the 10 per cent WAGE CUT which affected more than a million workers!

The loss is FIVE TIMES the amount which the railroads were supposed to gain from the RATE INCREASES granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

These purchases MORE THAN THE DEPRESSION drained the life-blood or working capital of the railroads.

The stock and bond purchases were ABSOLUTELY NEEDLESS.

Unless the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the acquisitions the railroads own these securities ILLEGALLY.

If the proposed absorption of desired roads won I. C. C. approval, then purchase of their stocks or bonds would nevertheless have been superfluous.

The railway executives, therefore, have no defense for their great waste of stockholders', of shippers', of PUBLIC money, in this high-handed stock-jobbing, peak price purchasing, selfishly-motivated speculation and intrigue.

And all of this was accomplished while the railroads were SWEATING under obnoxious REGULATION!

While the railroads are about making solemn promises, and appealing for public support, let them proceed to a thorough internal housecleaning.

An Aging Charmer

By Winifred Black

Well, there she was at the party—the woman with the beads. She must have been a pretty woman once, and they say she was quite a charmer in a small way.

But now she's a little over plump, so she starves herself to keep thin, and the starvation gives her a kind of nervous, haunted look.

There were quite a few prettyish, youngish women at this particular party, and some rather clever, oldish women, and the charmer was just a trifle neglected; or it was easy to see that she felt so.

So all at once the string of her beads broke, and plink, plank, plunk, there they were rolling all over the floor; and the youngish Greek professor dropped on his knees, and the fattish broker dropped on his knees, and the poet dropped on his knees; but the young actor said to the prettiest girl in the room:

"There's a new moon. Let's you and I step out on the balcony and look at it."

But the charmer was happy. She had three men at her feet. They weren't talking to her, of course; they were just groping around and saying, "Here's one"—and "This makes two," and that sort of thing; but they weren't talking to any other woman, and they were at her feet.

And that was nice—for the charmer.

This is the third time I've seen the string of those beads break. It's getting to be something like a game. The rest of us make bets about it, and some of us are so expert at reading the expression on the charmer's poor, faded face that we know just about when those beads are going to break.

If the charmer could only hear the things the men say about those beads, and about the charmer, and about all oldish women who will not give up the idea of conquest, I think she'd either leave the beads at home on her dressing table, or get them strung on a stronger string.

And she could be such a nice, comfortable person, too, if she only would, with all the fret and fever of love affairs out of her life.

Poor charmer! I'm rather sorry for her myself; aren't you?
